

Local Girl Back Safe From Peak 2 Hunters Die In Adirondacks Area

Three students, one a Kingston girl, walked to safety after staying overnight on Mt. Marcy, the state's highest peak, and two hunters died in the Adirondacks this weekend, another is still missing, The Associated Press reported today.

A Kingston girl, one of three members of a party from the Outing Club of the State University College at Albany, spent Saturday night on the 5,344-foot mountain in the Adirondacks and was reported none the worse for her experience today.

With Two Others
Miss Evelyn Small, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Small of 18 West Pierpont Street, was with Walter Swindell, 25, a student from Middletown and David Lohr, 30, of Rensselaer, former president of the club and graduate of the college, as the group split into smaller parties to climb the peak.

Miss Small strained her leg and couldn't keep up a fast pace, so when darkness fell, Lohr, an experienced mountaineer, decided to camp for the night. The trio, snug in warm clothing, waited until daylight and walked to the pre-determined meeting point of the group at Lake Colden.

According to college authorities, the trio was never lost at any time.

Miss Small, a junior and honor graduate from Kingston High School in the class of 1959, is back at classes today, the college reported, in apparent good health.

Claims Two Victims
The Associated Press reported two hunters died in the Adirondacks and another is still missing.

One deer-hunter was killed when a boat overturned in Stillwater Flow and the other was stricken by a fatal heart attack. Still missing was a Brooklyn psychiatrist, Dr. Douglas E. Schultz, 34, who disappeared while hunting deer near Skaneateles north of Speculator.

Andrew Lehman, 62, of Chaguan, was drowned Saturday night when the boat in which he and Terry Walker, 32, of Beaver Falls, were riding filled with water and capsized.

Walker was rescued after clinging to a boat cushion for about two hours. He was reported in good condition in a Utica hospital. State police said about an inch of ice covered the reservoir, which is 11 miles from Big Moose and the ice apparently punctured the bow of the wooden boat.

The men were en route to a camp.

The heart-attack victim was Eugene A. Christian, 64, of Saranac Lake. His body was found in the Turtle Pond hill area of Franklin County, about 10 miles from Saranac Lake.

Dr. Francis B. Trudeau, acting coroner's physician, said Christian had suffered a heart attack Saturday.

More than 500 persons searched the area around Skaneateles Pond Sunday for Schultz, who had been missing since Nov. 4 when he was flown to the pond by seaplane.

Schenectady Is Included as Depressed Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today designated Schenectady, N.Y., and all or part of 38 counties in the nation as additional depressed areas which are eligible for special federal aid.

The designations were announced by the Area Redevelopment Administration, which provides loans and grants for the economic development of sections with substantial and persistent unemployment or low levels of average family income.

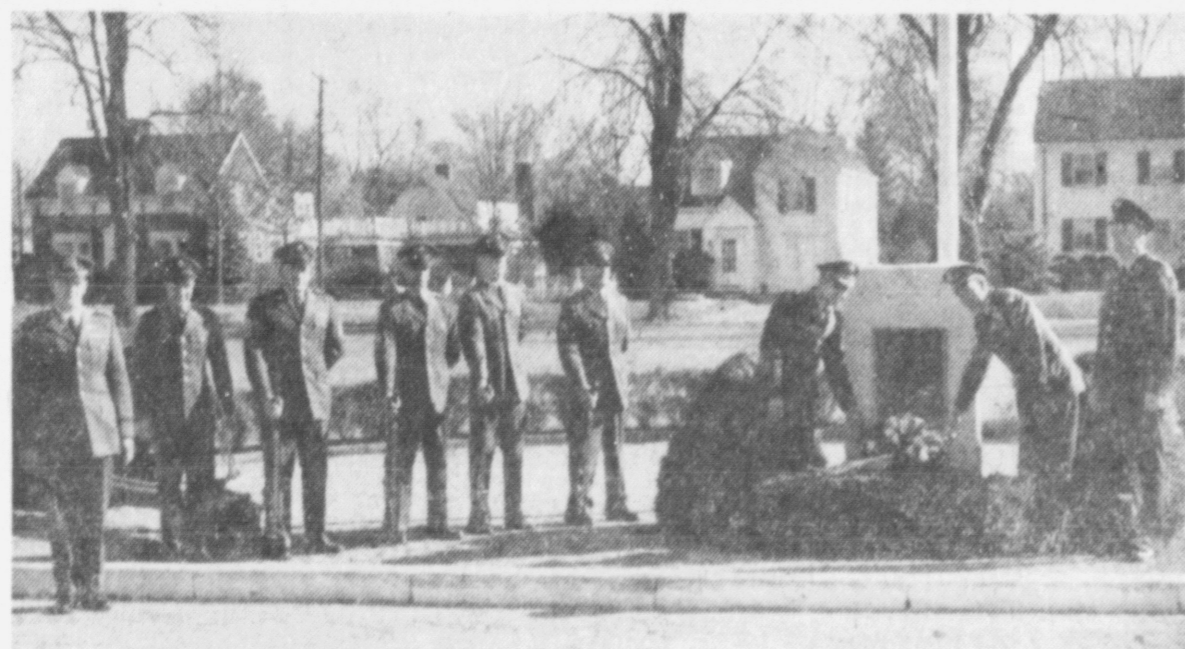

Unified Federal Approach Proposed in Welfare Report

NEW YORK (AP)—A call for a unified federal approach to family welfare needs is sounded in a report issued by Columbia University's New York School of Social Work.

"In the federal government," the report said, "welfare responsibility is divided between the Children's Bureau and the Bureau of Public Assistance, neither one of which has the authority to deal with the whole family situation."

It recommended "the creation of an Office of Public Welfare or Office of Family and Child Welfare, which would include the present operating responsibilities of the separate agencies."

The report, made public Sunday, cites fragmentation of structure, of program and of thinking

President Gives Order

Work on Study Result, Aviation Agency Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has directed the Federal Aviation Agency to begin working on the recommendations of a special group which studied the nation's aircraft control system.

Kennedy released the report of the Project Beacon task force Sunday. He ordered FAA Administrator N. E. Halsey to put as many of the recommendations as possible into effect, and to confer with Defense Department officials about some of the long-range proposals.

The study group, headed by Richard R. Hough, operations vice president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., recommended a five-year capital outlay of $600 million to update the aircraft control program.

To St- Controversy
Some of the recommendations are expected to stir controversy, including one that considerable use be made of existing military facilities to control civilian plane traffic.

The report recommended that only the radar portion of a military weapons control system known as SAGE—Strategic Air Ground Environment—be used for aircraft control. It said the Defense Department seems uncertain of SAGE's future, making it questionable whether it could be depended on as a complete aircraft control and guidance system.

Kennedy, in endorsing the report, directed Halsey to come up with a system using only those elements of SAGE which could be most useful in air traffic control. The task force also recommended that the present FAA control system be extensively modified and improved.

At another point, the report rejected possible use of the much-heralded three-dimensional radar system, which it said did not offer enough promise for accurate reporting of plane altitude.

Another recommendation was that pilots lacking full instrument flight rating be put in a new category to be called controlled visual rules. They would fly visually in clear weather but would be controlled by the FAA to keep them separated from other planes.

The committee also proposed some new rules for the more congested airports and the most heavily traveled airways.

Among them are:
1. A speed limit of 230 miles an hour below 8,000 feet.
2. FAA control of all flights above 14,000 feet and in certain cases down to 8,000 feet.
3. Special arrival and departure lanes over busy airports, with planes segregated according to speed.

Says Church Will Stand

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Lutheran Bishop Otto Dibelius of Germany said Sunday the world will forget communism in 100 years but the living church will still stand.

The bishop spoke at Southern Methodist University where he was awarded an honorary degree.

As a malady of the public welfare job.

At one point, the report referred to the controversial welfare code adopted last summer in Newburgh, as "regressive" and as a return to the "good old days" of poor law and woodshed.

Among provisions of the Newburgh code were ones requiring able-bodied men on relief to accept jobs on city projects and providing for removal from welfare rolls of mothers of illegitimate children who continued to bear children out of wedlock.

City Manager Joseph Mitchell, father of the code, said it was designed to shave chiselers from the welfare rolls.

Newburgh has been temporarily restrained through court action from enforcing sections of the code.

To Build Shelter With Bars to Keep Out Others

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—A trucker building an $8,000 fallout shelter for his family and 11 relatives says it will include a system of barred doors and corridors designed to keep intruders out.

But if somebody should blast his way in after a nuclear attack, according to Larry H. Merritt, he would be greeted by homemade shrapnel grenades and gunfire.

No Choice, He Declares
"You have no choice," Merritt said Sunday. "Anybody desperate enough to blast his way through two or three concrete doors wants to annihilate you anyway. People do strange things when they panic."

Merritt said the 20-by-20 foot cavern in his backyard is primarily for his family of four and the relatives—and possibly a few more people.

"We'd take as many people in as we can," Merritt said. "The shelter can handle 16 for six months and more for a shorter time."

To Have Conveniences
His steel-concrete structure, to be completed in about a month, will have conveniences like plumbing and heat, a radio transmitter, air filters, bottled gas, private water supply, and a garbage disposal.

Before the contractors dug the hole in his backyard, Merritt said he canvassed the neighborhood offering to include other families in his plans for $100 a family. He got no takers, he said.

Merritt said he will show his shelter plans to anybody interested in building one like it.

"If I can just get one family to think about this, I'll have accomplished something," he said. His wife had other ideas.

"When you build a shelter I don't think you should talk about it," she said. "It brings too much publicity."

To Study Tunnel

In Niagara Falls, meanwhile, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers prepared plans for a six-month survey of a mile-long tunnel under the streets of the city. Experts think it could house 15,000 people fleeing a nuclear blast and might be able to hold 30,000 if expanded.

The tunnel was built 40 years ago to carry water from the Upper Niagara River to generators at the Niagara Mohawk Corporation's Schoellkopf station. The tunnel has been idle since last October when the plant was closed because of the Niagara power project.

Grange Head Has 8 Points On Farm Help

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, Monday outlined an eight-point program aimed at solving agriculture's problems of low income and costly crop surpluses.

The program was presented in an address Newsom prepared for the 95th annual session of the Grange.

The eight points were:
(1) Raise net farm income; (2) Drastically reduce government farm program costs; (3) Restore to private trade the handling and sale of farm products; (4) Permit emphasis on competitive sales in world commerce;

(5) Reduce, or remove, the necessity of government controls; (6) Increase producer bargaining power through producer-controlled organizations; and programs to stabilize market supplies and prevent government accumulation of surpluses; (7) Assure farm operators a maximum degree of freedom in the management of their own business; and

(8) "Further our objective of permitting price variation to serve its normal functions."

"We must seek none of these objectives at the cost of further reductions in come to American agriculture, such as advocated by the proponents of the progressive reduction" in the level of price supports," the Grange leader said.

Phone Executive To Plan Recovery If Attack Occurs

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Benjamin H. Oliver Jr., a New York Telephone Co. executive, will direct planning state's recovery in the event of nuclear attack.

Oliver, who resides in Albany, was appointed Sunday by Gov. Rockefeller, to head a special state committee.

The committee's is to "develop plans and specific programs for the vital recovery and rehabilitation of our state," Rockefeller said.

The study will be financed from a $100-million appropriation. The appropriation, which was passed by the state legislature in special session last week, also includes funds for construction of fallout shelters in schools.

Rockefeller said Oliver would take a leave of absence from the telephone company and would serve without salary as committee chairman.

The other members of the committee are still to be named. "I know of no inquiry comparable to that which this special committee is undertaking," the governor said.

Guard Has Veteran's Day Rites

In Veterans Day ceremonies 11 a. m. Saturday Major Frank Fabbie, executive officer of 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard, and Capt. Andrew B. Grier, assistant operations and training officer, placed a wreath at the foot of the memorial monument at the State Armory, North Manor Avenue.

The monument is a memorial to the members of the 156th Artillery who made the supreme sacrifice for God and country.

Fires Volley
Following the placing of the wreath, a firing squad, under the direction of 1st Lieut. John V. G. Kemble Jr., fired three volleys in a salute to the veterans of the Armed Forces. The squad was comprised of First Sergeant Leonard Pomerantz, Sergeant Stanley Colvin, Sergeant Edward Reiff, and Private First Class John Brown.

Specialist Four Ronald Quarantino, bugler, sounded taps in memory of the departed veterans.

The Guardsmen and a small group of spectators assembled, were lead in solemn prayer by Chief Warrant Officer Thomas W. Miller, battalion personnel officer, who gave a brief address for the occasion. The address follows:

"A noted news analyst, George Sokolsky, is quoted as saying 'a nation that has lost patriotism has lost life. It moves, but it has become useless and will be taken over by those who have the courage to fight it out if need be.' This is something important for all of us to think about on this Veterans' Day and on every day. We must be ready and willing now, or our enemies will be."

Offer Tribute
"We have come here today, not out of a sense of military duty, not just to obey some order, not to look for favors, but because we feel a debt of gratitude for all the veterans of our Armed Forces of all wars. We want to pay honor to them on this day both to the living and to the dead, and to those who have made the supreme sacrifice for their country on the field of battle. We especially pay our humble tribute to the veterans of the 156th. Our battalion's history is steeped in the glories of their service to our nation."

"One hundred years ago, in the fall of 1861, the Twentieth Regiment, Infantry, New York State Militia, departed Ulster County a second time to serve three more years in the great war of the rebellion on the side of the Union. That regiment, the 'Ulster Guard' left a heritage that has been held sacred by its successors ever since, in the Spanish-American War, World War I, and in the 'Cold War' of today."

"We of the 156th Artillery will not find the task easy for us to measure up to, but with God's gracious help, and our own rededication to the highest loyalties we know, and our belief in the right of all men to enjoy freedom, freedom from oppression, the right to free inquiry, a freedom to worship, as God gives us that freedom, and our willingness to serve in the cause of justice and truth, the final victory can be ours, for ourselves, our children, and for future generations to come."

"Ever Onward" is our motto. We salute those whose devotion (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

Wiping Out Stalin Sins

Molotov Is Relegated Into Secret Depths

MOSCOW (AP)—Former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov disappeared into the secret depths of Soviet society Sunday as if he had been dropped into a well.

Gray and aged, he came from Vienna by train with his gray and aging wife, to face a purge by which the Communist party hopes to wipe out a little more of the memory and a few more of the sins of the Stalin regime.

He came clearly without restraint. Not a public official came to greet him at the train. If he had chosen freedom, he could have remained abroad.

Answers 'No'
A few plainclothes policemen showed up at the station, but they kept well back of the crowd of Western correspondents who came to question Molotov. The questions were met by the same "no" with which he had beaten back approaches to East-West agreements after World War II.

"Let's change the subject," said Stalin's longtime associate when asked about his reported expulsion from the party and Premier Khrushchev's denunciation of him at the recent Soviet Communist party congress.

"We had a fine trip," said his wife, Paulina. "Many of the passengers came to our compartment to say 'goodbye and good luck.'"

Shows No Concern
Except for the foreign newsmen, only the couple's daughter, Svetlana, and her husband were on hand to greet them. Molotov, now 71, showed no outward concern at the question mark hanging over his future. Seemingly relaxed, he talked with his daughter and son-in-law about their children.

Before he left Vienna, Molotov indicated to Western correspondents that he might have something to say about the charges made against him in the party congress that he had participated in major purges of party officials under Stalin.

Reports came through unofficial channels that expulsion from the party had already been voted by Molotov's party cell. The same reports said he had appealed to the supreme party court, the Central Commission.

Soviet press officials, when asked about Molotov, pretended not to know that he had returned to Moscow.

Cole, Albertini Are Appointed to Permanent Posts

Members of the Kingston Board of Public Works today unanimously appointed to permanent positions Charles J. Cole, superintendent of the Department of Public Works and Julius Albertini, chief sewer plant operator.

The board met at 8 a. m. at City Hall in a session recessed from the regular monthly meeting held Wednesday, Nov. 8.

Commissioners in attendance with Mayor Radel were John W. Lawson, Ernest M. Heppner, N. Jansen Fowler and Emanuel Colao.

Mayor Radel reported that the services of Cole during his 90-day probationary period were completely satisfactory and recommended the superintendent's appointment as a permanent employee in the department of public works.

On motion by Commissioner Fowler, seconded by Commissioner Lawson and supported unanimously, a resolution was passed making Cole a permanent employee.

Similar action was taken by the commissioners on the appointment of Albertini to the position of chief sewer plant operator. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

Tightened Parole Policy Has Prisoners Restless

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Inmates of the state's prisons are restless because of tightened parole policies, the state correction commissioner says.

Commissioner Paul D. McGinnis said the state's five maximum-security prisons were "the hot ones right now."

McGinnis returned Sunday night from a visit to Auburn and Attica, two maximum-security institutions.

He said the prisoners told him they believed the State Parole Board was "running scared" as a result of criticism arising when men released on parole became involved in new crimes.

At Auburn Saturday, McGinnis addressed the 1,700 inmates and talked with some of the 300 men who had participated in a peaceful demonstration last week against a court decision effecting the application of time off for good behavior.

He said he had visited Attica "to try and head off" any trouble there.

McGinnis said there had been unrest among the 2,035 prisoners for several days and prison officials feared there "might be some trouble."

When he left Attica, he said, the men still were mad but "willing to wait and see what happens."

The commissioner said he told the men at both prisons he was aware of their problems but that "demonstrations would do them more harm than good."

The prisoners, he said, felt they should not have to suffer for what some parolees had done. They complained that the parole board was not granting parole to many eligible prisoners.

Gov. Rockefeller ordered the tightening of parole policies after the arrest of Frederick G. Wood in the slaying of two men in New York City in 1960. Wood, who had served a prison term for murder, was released from Clinton Prison at Dannemora on parole only a month before. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Po'keepsie Man Shot Trying To Run, Held for Burglary

A 32-year-old man was shot in the upper right leg and later held on a burglary third degree charge as the aftermath of a bullet punctuated police chase through back yards in the Poughkeepsie business district early Sunday.

Detective Sergeant James Murphy identified the man as Frank A. Williams, of 441 Main Street, Poughkeepsie. Williams was committed to the Dutchess County jail pending further investigation and the case was adjourned by City Judge Charles O'Donnell.

According to Murphy, a resident of Cranell Street reportedly saw a man, later identified as Williams, climbing a drain pipe to the roof of the Moose Temple, 339 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie.

The man hurriedly notified Patrolman Stanley Dahowski who was in the vicinity and police headquarters was notified by radio.

Lieutenant George Traver and Patrolman Anthony LaRocca sped to the scene and the doors were guarded. Police smashed a window and entered the building.

Williams was seen back of the bar. Suddenly he dashed for a door and fled from the building with police in pursuit.

As the chase extended through dark back yards, Dahowski fired several shots. Williams reappeared and Traver and LaRocca (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

Gaffney Victory Conceded by Noe, Margin Six Votes

Eugene K. Noe, Republican candidate for supervisor in the Town of Lloyd has conceded the election of his Democratic opponent Supervisor John J. Gaffney.

Supervisor Gaffney was at first reported to have won by 5 votes. On the canvass, Gaffney picked up one vote and it now appears he won a very close election by 6 votes.

31 Ballots Inspected

The 31 absentee and military ballots cast in Lloyd were inspected Saturday before Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn and as a result it now appears 18 of those votes were for Noe and 12 for Gaffney. One ballot was not voted for supervisor.

The vote had been contested on the grounds there was a discrepancy in the number of absentee ballots sent out by the Board of Elections and those voted on election day in some districts.

Make Objections

At the inspection Saturday Stewart T. Schantz and John E. Egan, counsel for Noe, objected to several ballots on the grounds they bore marks other than the voting block, Arthur B. Ewing and George Beck, counsel for Gaffney, also made objections to several ballots which they alleged were wrongly marked. In each instance the objection was to votes cast for the opposing candidate.

Following the inspection Saturday Justice Bruhn sealed the ballots and returned them to the town clerk, Vincent Gaffney.

Board Is 19-16

By conceding the election Saturday afternoon of Supervisor Gaffney, this assures the return of Gaffney to the Board of Supervisors for another two years. He is presently Democratic minority leader. His election makes the 1962-63 board 19 Republicans and 16 Democrats.

On the inspection it appeared that 11 absentee ballot, for the Third Election District were delivered from the Board of Elections to Town Clerk Vincent Gaffney and that he delivered that number to the Third District. However, only eight were recorded as having been tallied.

Had all these missing ballots been credited to Noe, his opponent would have still won by three votes and in view of this situation Noe conceded the election of Gaffney and on Saturday afternoon so notified Gaffney.

Alert Expected Soon for Co. A And 156th Here

Two military organizations here will work on a test alert due soon, it was announced today.

They are Company A, 65th Internal Security Battalion and the 156th Artillery Battalion, New York Army National Guard, both at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue.

Today's announcement came from Lt. Col. Henry P. Sloboda, commander of the 65th which he said will cooperate with the 156th Artillery, commanded by Lt. Col. Arthur H. Marx.

All members of the Internal Security Battalion are urged to be ready. The organization was formed recently to take over if the National Guard is called into federal service.

Plane Flying Out Of Dutchess Port Reported Missing

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—A small plane said to be carrying a Princeton University student was reported missing early Monday on a flight from Dutchess County Airport to Trenton, N.J.

The pilot was identified as Bruce Hans. He took off at 12:30 a.m. in a single-engine brown and white Piper Colt, numbered 4661Z. His flight plan called for arrival at Trenton at 1:30 a.m.

Federal aviation authorities said Hans was believed to have spent the weekend here, and that he had a Princeton Aviation Club plane from the Mercer County Airport in New Jersey.

The building fund committee is grateful for the support of so many interested and generous friends. Construction of the new room has been started.

Citizens School Group Will Hear Reports Thursday

The Independent Citizens Committee on Education will meet Thursday in the trustee room of the municipal building. At this time the reports will be given by three committees studying the question "Are the facilities adequate for the satisfactory education of our children?"

The committee studying space now available for classrooms and related school purposes is headed by Robert DuBois, George Majestic, Grant Hague, and Edward McSweeney. Robert Coroy has been heading the committee studying the current school enrollment. Working with him are Mrs. Charles Karsten, Mrs. Richard Hasbrouck, Mrs. Gerow Smiley, Kenneth Duryea.

The committee studying finances is Walter Dyer, chairman; Mrs. Bennett Bradt, Douglas Bartow, Walter Paradies, and Francis Sullivan.

Frank Hamilton, business manager of the central school, has been asked to attend the meeting to answer questions which may arise as a result of the studies.

Varied Programs Are Presented for Senior Citizens

Nature Slides, and Buttons as a Hobby, have been the themes for recent meetings of the New Palitz Area Senior Citizens Group.

Mrs. Olive Clark, a collector of buttons for over 35 years, displayed her interesting collection recently. Mrs. Clark is a resident of Milton. Refreshments were served by the members of the local Jaycees.

Wednesday the group saw nature slides shown by Dr. Robert Pyle.

The program for Nov. 15 will feature a "Thanksgiving Craft" suitable for sharing with others. Each person will bring a spare cup, saucer, and spoon to leave for each week's refreshment period.

There will be no meeting Nov. 22 due to Thanksgiving. Meetings will resume Nov. 29 when the group will go to Kingston to visit the Senate House.

An invitation is extended to others in the area to become a part of this group now under Adult Education. The group attempts to provide recreation, fellowship, and educational programs for citizens of retirement years.

Newman Clubs Hold Conclave

Provincial leaders and delegates from the various Newman Clubs in Orange and Dutchess Counties met recently at St. Joseph's Center.

The session opened with the members attending the Dialogue Mass in St. Joseph's Church 10 a. m., after which breakfast was served at the center by the local branch from the University College under the auspices of the social committee.

Panel discussions on the necessity of providing strong leadership for the varied activities were held in the afternoon.

A report from the State University College of Education Newman Club was presented to the visiting delegates. A visit to the Ulster County Home and Infirmary followed where the staff and inmates were entertained by group singing to the accompaniment of an accordion played by one of the members.

For the spiritual advancement of the members the first of a series of Holy Hours was held at St. Joseph's Church on the third Tuesday of the month. This consisted of congregational singing, recitation of prayers and meditations given by the Rev. Joseph W. Hickory, spiritual advisor of the society.

Officers Named By Park Board

A reorganization meeting of the board of directors of the New Palitz Park and Recreation Association was held recently at the home of Mrs. Walter Garvin. At a previous meeting five new members were elected to the board.

Officers elected were president, Alfred Douglas; vice president, John McElhenney; secretary, Mrs. Walter Garvin; treasurer, Mrs. William Heath.

Other board members are Mrs. William George, Van Pine, Mike Vanryn, Thomas Benenati and George Schneider.

St. Joseph's Group Plans Renovations

At the recent monthly meeting of the Men's Club of St. Joseph's parish, the discussion was on getting a room set aside for the club in St. Joseph's Center. It was resolved to devote every Thursday evening for the next month to building shelves for the closets, installing more electric outlets for lighting, as well as general cleanup. After the completion of the repairs, the necessary equipment will be installed so that the members will have a suitable place to meet.

Area Activities

Mrs. Jerome DePuy, Mrs. Ella Koch, and Virgil Turner are patients at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Patric of Florida were recent guests of Mrs. Josephine Pallus.

The Mother's Guild of St. Joseph's School is planning a bus trip to Yonkers soon. Anyone interested in going may contact either Jean Moran, Pat Moran or Barbara Schulte stating date preferred.

Miss Edith Leim of Elting Avenue, a member of the class of 1962 at Vassar College, played a piano solo in the music program of the recent weekend conference on Contemporary arts at Vassar College.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph MacPherson of 35 North Chestnut Street are the parents of a daughter, Molly Helice, born Oct. 25.

Henry Tilverman, a member of the local police force, recently visited Washington, D. C., as a member of the International Association of Identification. With others from Connecticut, New Jersey and New York, he toured the Departments of Identification and Justice.

The women of St. Andrew's Church will hold a bake sale Nov. 15 from 9 a. m. until all items are sold at the Empire Market Main Street.

The official board of the Methodist Church will hold its November meeting in the Fellowship Room of the church tonight 7:45.

The Ladies Aid of the Reformed Church will meet in the Youth Lounge of the Education Building Friday, Nov. 17 at 2:30 p. m.

There will be an open swim session for all local Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts Friday, Nov. 24, from 2 to 3 p. m. at the Poughkeepsie YMCA.

Missing Youth Found at Home

CORNING, N.Y. (AP)—An 18-year-old Tulane University student, believed drowned last week in the Mississippi River, turned up at his home here Sunday night.

Kenneth W. Sterling was in a slightly "dazed" condition, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sterling.

The youth was reported missing last Monday when he went skin diving. His clothing and some diving gear was found on a river bank.

His parents said he told them that the current had carried him downstream and that he was not clear about things since then.

The Sterlings had gone to New Orleans when the boy was reported missing and presumed drowned. They arrived home last night shortly before Kenneth appeared at the door.

They said he told them he had flown from New Orleans to Washington, D. C., and then had hitchhiked from there.

They declined further comment.

See New Demand: Halt Secession Of Katanga Area

By WILLIAM N. OATIS UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Demands that the United Nations use force to end the secession of Katanga Province were expected with renewal today of the Security Council debate on the Congo.

Ethiopian chief delegate Tesfaye Gebre-Egzy and Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko of the central Congo government were listed as the first two speakers before the 11-nation council.

Asks Use of U.N. Force

Bomboko said privately last week he wanted the council to order the U.N. force in the Congo to help the Leopoldville government's army end Katanga's 16-month-old defiance of the central government.

Western sources said the United States and Britain feel Katanga must be brought back into the fold by peaceful means only.

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia cabled U.N. headquarters Nov. 1 that the council must act decisively "to ensure the integration of Katanga into the Congolese nation." Two days later Ethiopia, Sudan and Nigeria asked for a council meeting to consider the situation "caused by the lawless acts of mercenaries" officering the Katanga army and air force.

Discuss Resolution

Western sources said the United States and Britain had been talking with other delegations about a council resolution that would:

1. Affirm the territorial unity of the Congo, including Katanga.
2. Welcome the establishment last Aug. 2 of Premier Cyrille Adoula's central coalition government.
3. Express hope for an end to Katanga's secession by negotiation.
4. Call again for the ouster of foreign mercenaries from Katanga.
5. Declare that no arms should go to the Congo except through the United Nations.
6. Make some reference to acting Secretary-General U. Thant who would have the effect of transferring to the Congo mandates given the late Dag Hammarskjöld.

2 Pupils, Driver Hurt in School Bus-Auto Crash

SCHOHARIE, N. Y. (AP)—Two children and an automobile driver were injured today when an automobile struck the rear of a school bus in fog. Forty-four other children on the bus escaped injury.

State Police said the car, driven by Virgil Haas, 52, of Schoenelady, slipped on wet pavement and struck the Schoharie Central School bus as it was pulling away from a stop near the intersection of routes 30A, and 7 in Schoharie County.

Haas suffered facial cuts and was admitted to the Community Hospital at Cobleskill.

The injured children were Pauline Boynton, 15, and Sharon Perue, 12, both of Esperance. They were treated at the hospital and discharged.

NATO Ground Forces Important Avers Kennedy

PARIS (AP)—President Kennedy said today that North Atlantic Treaty Organization ground forces probably are as important to the NATO organization now as at any moment in its history.

Kennedy made the statement in a message delivered to the NATO parliamentarians meeting by Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr.

Kennedy said that he considered forces on the ground are probably as important to NATO "in this moment in history as forces on the ground have been at any time in the recent history of our nations."

Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, told the parliamentarians that Allied defense forces in central Europe now number approximately 25 combat-ready divisions—most of them at combat strength. This is a big advance from last year.

Norstad said that the effectiveness of the forces deployed in central Europe will have been increased by more than 25 per cent by the end of this year.

The general improved equipment and the mobility of reserve units would permit effective reinforcement of this force within a matter of days if necessary.

Margaret Ennis, Retired School Teacher, Dies

Mrs. Margaret D. Ennis of 8 Tietjen Avenue, a teacher at the Lake Katrine School for many years, died suddenly at Kingston Hospital this morning.

She began teaching at the local school in 1919 and served as teacher and principal until 1955 when the new school was constructed. From 1955 until her retirement in June, 1957, she was teacher of the third grade.

At the time of her retirement the Kingston School District (Consolidated) honored her for her many years of service to the teaching profession by dedicating the auditorium to her. It is known as the Margaret D. Ennis Auditorium.

A native of Ithaca, she was the daughter of the late John L. and Anna Marie McGinnis Driscoll. Her husband, Benjamin Ennis, died in 1946.

Mrs. Ennis was a member of St. Joseph's Church.

Surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Anna Brown, Mrs. Lawrence Frantz and Mrs. Frederick D. Wilcox, all of Ithaca, and Miss Florence Driscoll, RN, of Kingston; two brothers, William Driscoll of Owego and Albert Driscoll of Rochester. Several nieces and nephews also survive.

Funeral will be held from the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, Wednesday 9 a. m. thence to St. Joseph's Church where at 9:30 a. m. a solemn high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Friends may call at the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home tonight 7 to 10 and Tuesday 2 to 4 and 7 to 10 p. m. and at the John Shea Funeral Home, Ithaca, Wednesday 7 to 9 p. m. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Ithaca, on Thursday.

Success Brings New Job

NEW YORK (AP)—His first Broadway work has won director Donald McWhinnie a quick assignment as stage of "A Passage to India." The 33-year-old Englishman was unknown to the play's producers until a few weeks ago when his version of "The Caretaker" opened to critical acclaim. "I'm not sure I understand the play itself," said Robert Fryer, one of the sponsors of the new project. "But we all felt it was directed beautifully and if he could handle the small play he could handle the big one as well."

Return to Bible Study Is Urged By Two Rabbis

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Two leading rabbis of the conservative branch of Judaism say a return to Bible study is the answer to many pressing problems facing Jews and all other men.

Rabbi Ralph Simon of Chicago and Rabbi Bernard Siegel of New York City both called Sunday for intensified Jewish learning by youths and adults.

They were speakers at the opening of the convention of the United Synagogue of America at the Concord Hotel, theme of the convention, which ends Thursday, is "The Bible, a blueprint for our lives."

The convention heard president Bernath L. Jacobs of Philadelphia announce that 80 new congregations were being inducted into the United Synagogue.

This brings the total number of affiliated congregations in the United States and Canada to 736. These synagogues have a membership of 1.4 million, represented at the convention by more than 120 delegates.

Rabbi Simon, the keynote speaker, said "We cannot face the intellectual challenge of modern, adult thought with a juvenile level of information. Jewish education is a mile wide and an inch deep."

15 Suits Settled For $1,727,000 On Polio Vaccine

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Fifteen suits charging Cutter Laboratories sold faulty antipolio vaccine have been settled out of court for $1,727,000, attorney Melvin Belli announced Sunday.

The Berkeley pharmaceutical firm said total settlements to date have exceeded insurance coverage by more than $1 million. The latest settlement brought to more than $3 million the total settlements growing out of charges that some vaccine marketed by Cutter in 1955 contained live polio virus.

In test cases, juries found Cutter innocent of negligence in manufacturing the Salk vaccine, but awarded damages on the ground that the firm breached an implied warranty since the vaccine caused the disease it was designed to prevent.

Will Stick to Policy

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer says his new Christian Democrat-Free Democrat government, formed only after stormy negotiations, "will carry on the same foreign policy that was followed before."

The 85-year-old West German leader gave this pledge Sunday night in Hamburg, where the Socialists increased their lead over his Christian Democrats in a local election.

MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY DRIVE

Final plans for the 1961 Ulster County March on Muscular Dystrophy have been made by the chairmen of the wards in the city and of the county districts. The campaign will include a door-to-door solicitation, which will be conducted in the county Wednesday, November 22 and in the City of Kingston and in Saugerties Thursday, November 16.

Ours is an age of science. We have harnessed the forces of nature to an extent our ancestors would have considered incredible. And as newspaper headlines testify, we keep pressing ahead from one phenomenal achievement to another.

Medical science has kept pace with the giant strides made in other fields. Since the turn of the century and especially since the end of World War 2, many crippling and death-dealing diseases have been conquered or controlled.

Many others, however, have not yielded their secrets. Among the most baffling is the mysterious disease known as muscular dystrophy which has plagued man for untold centuries, perhaps from the very beginning of his life on earth. This tragic muscle-wasting disorder, which begins so insidiously but, once started, progresses so relentlessly, imposes a great burden on its victims, their families and society in general.

Muscular dystrophy presents a scientific challenge of such difficulty and magnitude that only in recent years has it begun to be met, largely as a result of the impetus provided by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., whose annual fund-raising drive, the March for Muscular Dystrophy is now underway. Founded in 1950, the Association has become one of America's leading voluntary health agencies. Its massive research program has been substantially strengthened by its sponsorship of the Institute for Muscle Disease, a unique laboratory complex in New York City, where dystrophy and related neuromuscular disorders are under intensive study.

In addition to its leadership in the field of research, the Association provides a wide variety of services to patients suffering from these severely crippling conditions. It is also worth mentioning that the atmosphere of fatalism and despair which once surrounded them has been dissipated by a program of public and professional education which emphasizes the Association's conviction that there are no "incurable" diseases but only diseases for which the cure has not yet been found.

We urge our readers to give generously in support of the March for Muscular Dystrophy.

STOCK MARKET THREAT

Each time October 29 reappears on the calendar Wall Street indulges in a reminiscent shudder. For values lost that day in 1929 started a chain reaction which led to the Great Depression. Stockholders were made poorer by 50 billion dollars.

Several devices have been developed since then to guard against another such crash in stock prices. Probably the most effective of these is the high percentage of cash in proportion to price which may be required of stock purchasers. It is no longer supposed to be possible to buy, for example, a thousand dollar stock with a margin of only one hundred dollars cash.

We say "supposed to be" because the ingenuity of some traders threatens to circumvent this important restriction. As the stock exchanges have been made aware, a clever device has been invented which can best be described as "dummy purchasing." Though the procedure is involved, it enables traders so inclined to buy stocks on a 10 per cent margin.

Were this procedure to be encouraged the market might once again become loaded with shoestring participants. This is the vulnerable class of investors who lack the resources to stay in the market should a downturn occur. Furthermore, this is

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE RUSSIAN BOMBS

At the moment of writing, the Russians have detonated more than 30 major bombs, one of them the largest ever detonated by man, the more than 50 megaton bomb. The Russian series cannot be altogether without purpose although it was suspected for a time, that Khrushchev was using the bomb for terroristic propaganda. The series is too large and is over too long a period of time to be merely terroristic propaganda. There must be other purposes.

The Russian bombs have been of all types and kinds, including an underwater bomb and possibly the anti-missile, neutron bomb. The Russian excuse that they need to explode as many bombs as all the NATO powers is nonsense. An experimental test discloses all its data to the scientists of all countries. Therefore, it is not sound for the Russians to contend that tit-for-tat explosions are needed. Furthermore, the United States have not been exploding bombs.

The Russian effort is undoubtedly designed to develop anti-missile bombs and to develop nuclear war-heads for long-range rockets which could damage our missile sites. More than anything, the Russians fear our Polaris fleet. The submarine nuclear weapons which we have, the Russians have not yet equalled. But they are apparently working on anti-missile defense bombs which they hope to use against us.

Obviously Soviet Russia and the United States are at war, but the means of conducting the war are different from anything we have heretofore known. When Soviet Russia, for instance, explodes a 50 megaton bomb, a warlike step has been taken which affects the entire Earth and a point can be reached at which mere explosions of bombs will have the effect of battles won or lost.

The air, the sea, the soil of the entire Northern hemisphere are being polluted. It will not be long before Red China retaliates which can geographically involve the Southern hemisphere, particularly the nations of the Indian Ocean. This body is to the Afro-Asian countries what the Mediterranean Ocean is to the European-African-Asian countries. The difference, however, is that the countries which lie on the Indian Ocean are utterly defenseless, being among the secondary peoples whose history has been one of long dependence on Europe.

Soviet Russia's effort to establish military supremacy over the United States thus becomes a mathematical equation. If Soviet Russia has more nuclear weapons in greater variety than we have, we can be defeated. This then is something that the American people need to know in understandable terms. The President has said that we are superior to the Russians in every respect, but the Russians give the impression of being superior.

Kennedy says one thing; Khrushchev another. We prefer to believe Kennedy. He is our President. It makes sense, in a crisis, such as we now face, to support him as one can in conscience do.

On the other hand, confidence must in some manner be established. Until the Cuban fiasco, the American people generally responded to Kennedy's youth and enthusiasm unabashedly. The Cuban fiasco came as a shock from which this nation has not yet recovered. Further, it is difficult to understand why, if it is our policy to go the limit in defense of Berlin, did we permit the Russians to build the wall between East and West Berlin. It would seem to be as possible to knock that wall down brick by brick, as it is going up, as to fight a major war over it.

These contradictions require explanation. President Kennedy has faced crisis after crisis since he has come into office. None of these crises were exactly of his making but statesmanship requires a recognition of the continuation of government through Administration after Administration. It does no good to object to the errors of predecessors; that is the function of the historian not of the statesman who goes right ahead accepting what he finds no matter who is responsible. When one writes historically, he must determine how much mischief was done by Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt. But politically, it is only possible to deal with today and tomorrow.

This then is the tough and trying task of President Kennedy. His judgment must be immediately right. His advisers need to be men of impeccable wisdom and patriotism. We are in a war crisis which calls for great minds and courageous spirits.

Many Hearing and Sight Defects Are Avoidable

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Each year, scores of infants enter the world with preventable defects of hearing and of sight. Some of these unfortunate babies will be totally deaf or totally blind. The totally deaf may never learn to use their voices (mutism) and be compelled to communicate their desires and needs by sign language or the written word.

While it is difficult to estimate the numbers of deaf, mute and blind children in our country at any given moment, the census of those with significant visual defects may be as high as a half-million and of those with significant hearing defects as high as a quarter-million.

What makes the magnitude of these misfortunes the more difficult to bear, alike for parents and children, is the fact that so many are preventable. Here are some of the measures that can be taken, with your active cooperation in many instances, to insure sharpness of hearing and sight of young females and newborn babies:

Expose young females to German measles (rubella) before they enter into childbearing. Maternal attacks of rubella account for an appreciable per cent of congenital deafness and blindness.

If the bride or expectant mother has never had an attack of measles or mumps, request immunization with newly released vaccines since these virus infections, like rubella, may also damage the unborn.

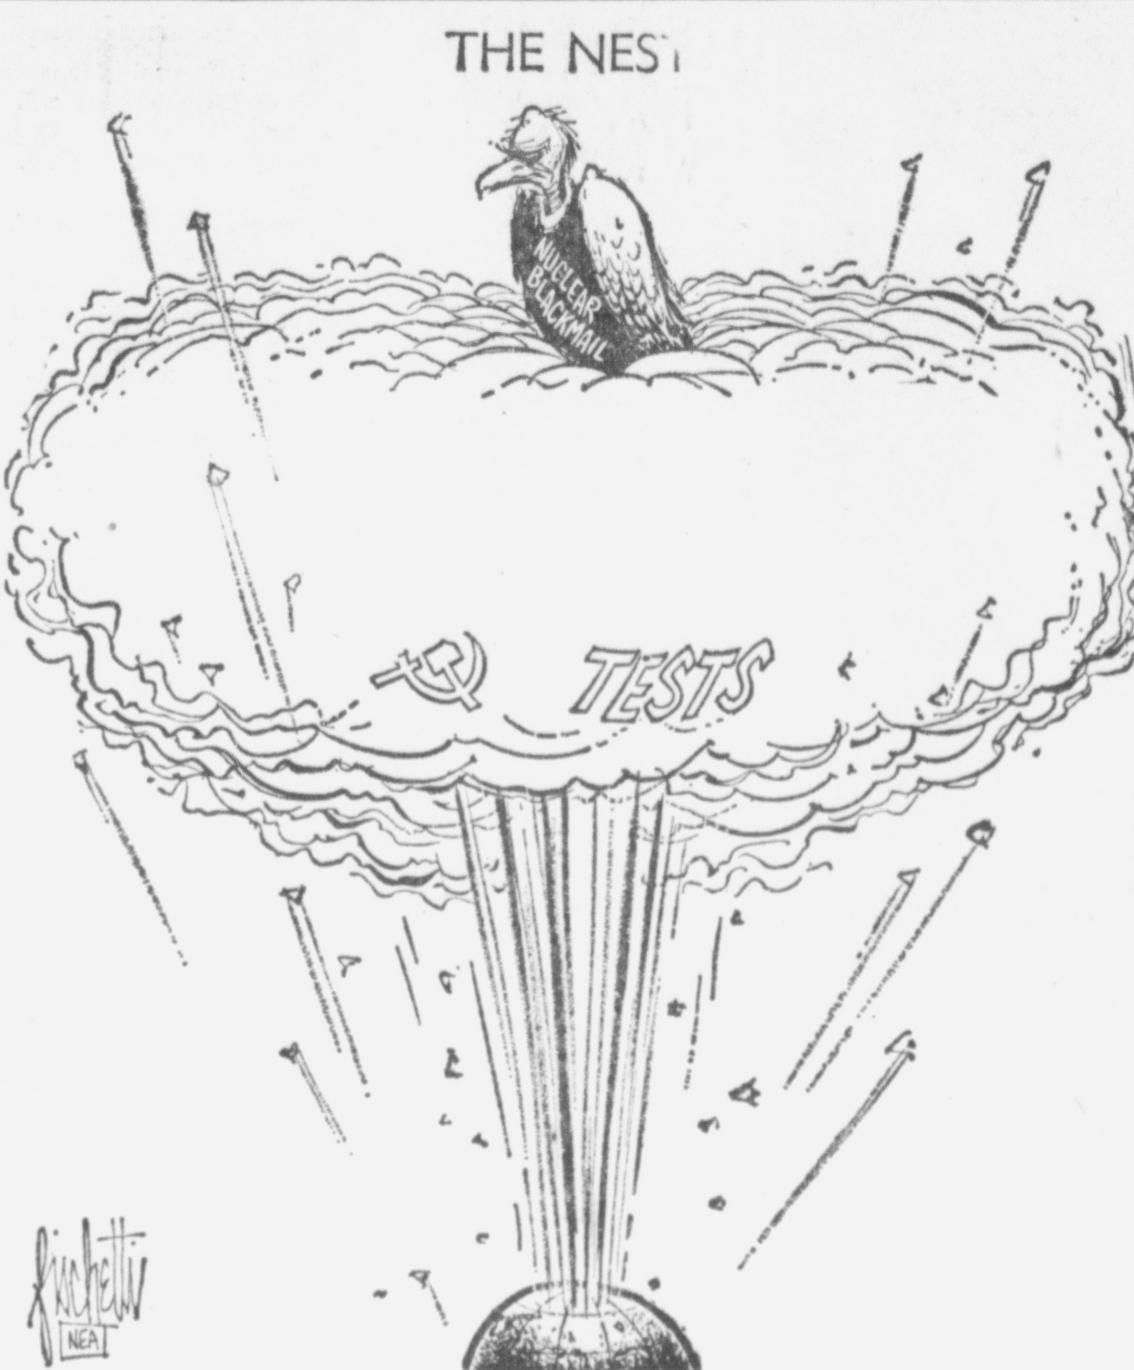

If there is a danger of even a mild epidemic of virus influenza during the first third of the pregnancy, request immunization with the variety of virus (NOT bacillus) that's thought to be prevalent.

If your child is a premature that needs oxygen, request expert supervision of the administration of the gas. While oxygen administration seems as simple as turning on a TV set, the use of too high concentrations for too long may permanently damage the delicate membrane that registers light waves. Children may be blinded as a result of what's called retrolental fibroplasia. If your child appears inattentive, is a mouth-breather, has a constant nasal discharge and is not doing as well in school as you think he should be doing, request a specialist examination of his throat. If the passage between throat and middle ear (eustachian tube) is being closed off by adenoid tissue, agree to the advised operation as a means for restoring acuteness of hearing.

If your child has a "running ear," request a specialist examination even if the discharge is slight and the youngster has a normal temperature.

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

Here are excerpts from a letter sent in by a lady whose husband—a 20-year union man—worked for the losing candidate in a union election, then found it impossible to get work. The National Labor Relations Board found the union wrong and Mr. Matzka right, ordered amends and closed the case. But Matzka is still blackballed and can't make a living.

DEAR MR. CROMLEY:

We have just received a letter from the National Labor Relations Board in St. Louis, Mo., containing two checks made out to my husband for $517.20. One check was from the Boilemaker's Union, Local 363 in East St. Louis, Ill., for $266.60 and the other from Fluor Corp. for $250.60. The statement attached informed us that this was in payment for loss of work due to Fluor Corporation not hiring my husband when he went to the contractor to ask for work, as the boilermaker business agent would not put him to work, although he had 20 years in Local 363. This is full payment and out of the National Labor Relations Board's hands, we were told.

THE LAST JOB my husband received from the Boilemaker Local 363 was in the spring of 1955. We then had three children and expecting the fourth, so we were very concerned when he didn't get any work. The whole story is in the NLRB files in Washington, D. C., of how the men who had been in the local for many years, were not put to work because they checked a blaze in a boat owned by J. W. Baylis, of Oyster Bay, at an East Strand dock.

Warning Signals Observed
That Economy Is Faltering

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — "The time to begin is now," said President Kennedy the other day as he proposed that America revise her world trade policies. But he might also have made this comment about the necessity of doing something right away about the rise in unemployment due to the stagnation of the heavy-goods industries of the United States.

For the warning signals are up. Steel men fear a strike next year and another increase in wage costs as they face a declining market due to competition from abroad, where wage costs are low. There is also a good deal of gloom in the whole manufacturing segment of the national economy, where the bulk of the unemployed are to be found.

Economic Advisors Error

Will the economic advisors of the "New Frontier" repeat the mistakes made by their fellow "brain trusters" in the New Deal days of the 1930s when unemployment persisted with 9,100,000 still unemployed when the United States entered World War II in December, 1941?

Today unemployment is running at an indicated figure of 4,900,000 for the year, which is larger than the average for any year in the last two decades. In the 1930s, as now, the heavy-goods industries were neglected. Yet they were then, as they are today, the key to national prosperity.

The Administration is talking about tax reform for 1963, but if it refuses to deal with the tax-depreciation problem any sooner than 1963, then a chaotic condition may result. For the confusion over tax allowances is what is holding back the progress of the heavy-goods industries.

Complications

There are also international complications ahead. Already European countries which have benefited from the growth of American investments abroad in recent years are beginning to wonder why the Washington government is proposing that American-owned companies overseas pay taxes on their earnings which could prevent their reinvestment.

The political implications of the whole situation, moreover, are becoming more pointed. The President naturally wants a victory for the Democratic party in 1962 Congressional elections. But if unemployment rises, the Democrats will lose ground in Congress. Also, if the industries of the United States find tariffs and quotas reduced and more foreign goods flowing into this country in competition with American products, there will be an upsurge of protectionist sentiment in the ranks of labor in many urban centers where the

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York had a great treasure of Big Names. On my arrival there as a cub I was awed by the fact that even I could dive into a phone booth and call up George W. Perkins or Dudley Field Malone. Even George M. Cohan.

New York got us into the First War. The winds of propaganda swept constantly from East to West. The West had opinions but only a feeble voice. And remember, we had a lot of those damned hyphenates from German, who refused to believe the gospel that German soldiers had impaled Belgian babies on their bayonets and crucified a Canadian soldier on a barn door. Worst of all, we had that pro-German traitor, Bob La Follette, who voted against war in the final count, and a Congressman from Minnesota named Lindbergh, who did the same and sired a son Charles A., who in the 1930's tried to keep out of the Second War.

But until the fight over the League of Nations we could always expect fairly good counsel from the wise men of our East. To be sure, there was always Tammany, but its evil was local and constantly notorious. The

WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

Bulldozer Blight Kills Many Trees

Shade trees in new home developments can be saved from bulldozer "blight."

Developers and builders are finding that all it takes is a little extra care, starting with earth-moving machinery during construction, according to Robert A. Bartlett, president of the Bartlett Tree Experts.

Bulldozer "blight" has been killing prized shade trees for nearly two decades. Tree death is usually slow—often occurring several years after new homes are purchased. Unexpectedly, home owners are burdened with the costly job of tree removal and replacement.

Invariably what happened was this: As houses were built, surface roots of nearby trees were needlessly ripped up. Heavy bulldozers also crushed some of the remaining roots or packed earth about them.

Scooped-away soil resulted in changing the water table. In other cases "fill" was added, suffocating the root systems. Often, big roots were unnecessarily severed in the laying of utility mains.

Now, builders are taking steps to preserve the trees from the moment a new suburban development is opened up.

Tree specialists are called in to help decide which existing trees should remain. House, garage and utility lines are placed in relation to these trees.

Tree trunks are boxed in during construction to prevent scarring of bark and other accidental maltreatment. Underbrush is cleared by hand. Bulldozers are kept away from tree roots. Before hills are added, proper drainage and other protective measures are taken. Utility mains are carefully tunneled through or beneath the root system to minimize root injury. The trees are then pruned and fed.

This construction care of trees is paying off, Bartlett reports. The trees which make the sites so attractive to owners, remain things of beauty.

Equality

John O'Groat gave his name to the settlement on the far northeastern tip of Scotland. A man of enormous tact, he had seven sons with turbulent dispositions, so he built a house with eight doors and an octagonal table so all would have equal precedence.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Some time ago, May Fields of Henry Street gave me the Kingston Daily Leader of Monday, Nov. 28, 1938. According to this paper, we can expect snow, sleet and ice before the month of November leaves us.

With this lovely weather, none of us want to even dream of the icy highways, the heavy snow falls and the cold that comes down on us, making everything so difficult. In 1938 the first snowfall came on Thanksgiving Day and special maintenance force of the Kingston Board of Public Works and the Ulster County Department of Highways were kept busy all day Saturday and Sunday, sanding hills and other icy spots as well as rushing around to remove snow from roadways.

Two trucks were engaged in sanding city streets all day Sunday. In the business sections of Kingston, two snow loaders were busy with about 16 trucks to haul the snow away. One worked uptown and one downtown, working all night when streets were free of traffic.

On September 21, 1938 at 5:30 in the afternoon came the big hurricane, which no doubt many remember. At 6 p. m. many of the big trees of Kingston were blown down and many of the streets were without lights. The large trees fell across streets and blocked traffic on Main Street, Washington Avenue, portions of Fair Street, Clinton Avenue, Wall Street, Maiden Lane and other streets. Those who had candles and lanterns and search lights were lucky for the electric lights were out, but luckily telephone wires held up and everyone was calling everyone else for information. That shows you, if something happens and our electric service is out, we have no radio or TV contact.

It is difficult to believe the damage the "Hurricane of '38" did to property around here, with some 400 giant trees being blown down in Kingston alone, some right against houses and others blocking streets and doing other damage.

It is said, that it took nearly two weeks to repair and complete all electric service. Downtown was not as badly hurt by the fallen trees as the flat upper part of town.

I have often heard about the scow — hand-powered ferry which ran from lower part of town to South Rondout. In the Leader of Nov. 28, 1938 its location is given at "John Fischer's on Abel Street, for passenger service over the creek to South Rondout."

The shipyard and malt house at South Rondout attracted many workers from Kingston who were accommodated by this small ferry. I take it the malt house, was the one originally built and run by Major George Von Beck. Von Beck was an engineer who also built and owned the Mansion House in Kingston and the Masonic Temple which is now the Yallum building, corner Broadway and Strand.

This special 1881 to 1938 anniversary edition has many old pictures, one, taken I would say from the picture Atlas of 1875 of Kingston showing residence of P. J. Du Bois, Union Avenue, (now Broadway) and Franklin Street later home of Dr. Orlando DuBois Ingalls at 679 Broadway.

The summer house with pointed roof, the barn, the ornate iron fence on stone foundation which was taken down only lately, so the ground could be black-topped for a gas station is shown in this nearly century old lithograph picture.

One explanation of the naming of Canada is that early Spanish explorers searched for gold there, found none and said in disgust: "Aca Nada" or "Here is nothing."

Noted Cellist Is To Play Tonight At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pablo Casals, the politically conscious 84-year-old cellist, will play at the White House tonight as culture takes another bow on the New Frontier.

The occasion is a formal dinner in honor of Casals' old friend, Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico, who is no stranger to the arts. Before turning to politics, Munoz was highly regarded as a poet, and also had been an editor, publisher and writer.

By his own choice, Casals, considered by many the world's greatest cellist, will not dine with the guests of President and Mrs. Kennedy. He will be limbering up, preparing for the concert that will be one of his rare appearances in this country.

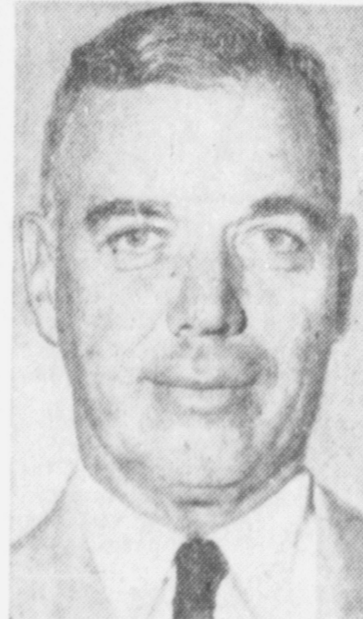

A native of Spain, Casals once vowed never to play in countries that recognize its dictator, Generalissimo Francisco Franco. The United States does, and Casals has not been heard in a public concert in this country since 1928.

He occasionally has played for closed audiences, such as in 1958 when he appeared at the annual United Nations Day concert in New York and received a thunderous ovation.

The President extended a personal invitation to Casals to play at tonight's dinner. During last year's presidential campaign, the cellist wrote an open letter in support of Kennedy.

Deer Proves He's Smart as Well As Tame Friend

PRESTONSEURG, Ky. (AP) — Oswald is a deer who loves people.

Hundreds of residents of this eastern Kentucky area worried themselves sick about Oswald during the four-day open season on deer when hunters stalked the colorful hill country.

They didn't take into account that Oswald was as clever as he is lovable. Oswald deftly beat a strategic retreat to a remote section where there was almost no hunting.

There, said conservation officer Raymond Copley, Oswald has been living in grassy pastureland. In bad weather, he makes use of a warm barn provided by Bill Boyd, a farmer in the Calf Creek section of Floyd County.

From his birth about 21 months ago, Oswald has trusted people. For quite a while he lived with them, romping on lawns, meandering into the house, and feeding himself in neighborhood gardens.

When he added tobacco leaves to his diet, the neighbors decided to evict him. He was sent to the Dewey Lake area to become what he was born to be—a wild deer.

He didn't understand. He made new friends: campers, fishermen, hunters, conservation officers in the state park. He never became gun shy.

As deer season approached, his friends began to worry. They decided to house him in a barn until it was safe again outside. This time Oswald balked. He wouldn't be caught.

Each of the four nights during the deer season which ended Saturday at sundown, one of Oswald's closest friends, Arnold Workman, checked the stations which register hunters' kills.

Oswald wasn't among the dead.

Now he is free again to roam the hill country. The people who love him have stopped worrying until next year.

This classroom teacher is 15 miles from his students

Thousands of boys and girls in six schools in Cortland, New York, are sharing this experience. So are children in the neighboring villages of Truxton and Virgil.

It's part of a remarkable teaching experiment worked out by the New York State Department of Education, the Cortland School Board and the New York Telephone Company — an experiment that will lead to more effective use of television for instruction all over the state.

At Cortland, the television teacher is seen and heard by the students through special facilities designed and built by New York Telephone people. The television picture is carried over specially installed coaxial cable. As an optional feature, the students can also talk to the teacher over special telephone lines. The result is a free exchange of questions and answers between the teacher in the television studio and the pupils in the classrooms.

In operation for more than three years at Cortland, this educational television system is seen as one possible answer to the problem of giving the best instruction to an expanding school population.

This is one more example of how your telephone service can be planned to meet your special requirements. Whether it's in the TV classroom, the office, or your home, we look for the right combination to meet your communications needs.

This new educational service is now available to most school districts. For more information call your local telephone sales or business office.

U. S. Jets Aid South Viet Nam In War on Reds

By JOHN GRIFFIN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Four U.S. Air Force F101 reconnaissance jets are credited by reliable informants with a powerful assist to South Viet Nam as scouts in its war against Red rebels.

South Vietnamese sources say the jets, which have been operating from Saigon's International Airport for three weeks, are flying missions to pinpoint photographically the secret bases, staging areas and movements of the Communist Viet Cong troops.

They said highly detailed pictures taken by the jet pilots guide South Vietnamese fighter-bombers in strikes against well-guarded and sometimes almost inaccessible guerrilla installations.

U. S. Fleet Arrives

The reports coincided with the arrival of the U.S. Pacific Fleet commander, Adm. John M. Sides, for a one-day visit. Asked if the 7th Fleet might be used in Viet Nam if the military situation worsens, Sides replied, "The center of gravity of the 7th Fleet is always near where the most trouble is."

A large number of high-ranking air force and marine officers have been arriving in Saigon for several days. All say officially that their visits are part of South-east Asia tours for routine indoctrination.

Raid on Rebels

Saigon newspapers have been telling of a series of successful raids by government warplanes on rebel boats, buildings and troop units.

The United States provided the planes and the U.S. Air Force has built up an extensive supply and training operation for South Vietnamese airmen and ground crews.

However, a U.S. Embassy official played down the role of the F101s. He said they came here Oct. 22 for exhibition during the celebration of South Viet Nam's National Day Oct. 26—a celebration which was cancelled long in advance—and remained "just to log some flying time."

Death Sentence Is Set Aside

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court set aside today the conviction of Charles Clarence Hamilton, a Negro sentenced to death in Alabama on charges he broke into a dwelling "with intent to ravish" a white woman.

Counsel for Hamilton contended the Negro was denied due process of law guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution because he did not have aid of a lawyer when he was arraigned on the charges.

Justice Douglas delivered the unanimous decision.

Douglas said: "When one pleads to a capital charge without benefit of counsel, we do not stop to determine whether prejudice resulted. In this case the degree of prejudice can never be known. Only the presence of counsel could have enabled this accused to know all the defenses available to him and to plead intelligently."

The high court action does not prevent Alabama from further prosecution efforts against Hamilton.

Hamilton was discovered in the bedroom of Mary Giangrosso in Ensley, Ala., about 3 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 13, 1956. Jacob Milko, owner of the house, held Hamilton at pistol point until police arrived. Mrs. Giangrosso was the grandmother of Mrs. Milko.

Hamilton was sentenced to the electric chair on April 23, 1957, and his counsel then began appeal moves. The counsel said there was no evidence that the grandmother was harmed or that Hamilton had weapons or burglar tools.

Kennedys Will Make Decision On Camp David

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—

Whether Camp David is to become a weekend retreat for President Kennedy rested today with his wife and daughter.

Kennedy brought his wife, Jacqueline, and his daughter, Caroline, to the isolated camp in the Catoctin Mountains of western Maryland Sunday for the first time.

If Mrs. Kennedy and Caroline like the mountain camp, the Kennedys may abandon or at least spend much less time at Glen Ora, their leased Virginia country estate near Middleburg. Caroline will be 4 Nov. 27.

Camp David served as a hideaway for Kennedy's three predecessors in the White House—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Kennedys flew here Sunday for an overnight stay after attending Mass at St. Stephens church. They brought several guests, including Kennedy's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Smith of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spaulding of New York, long-time friends; and Princess Lee Radziwill of London, Mrs. Kennedy's sister.

Camp David, located on a mountain top, is in the Catoctin National Forest, cloaked in misty and chilly weather.

The Kennedys and their guests were kept comfortable by fires in open fireplaces in the big living-dining room and each of the four bedrooms of Aspen Lodge.

Farmers' Future Seen Improving

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said today the first year of the "New Frontier" has clear implications for improving the future of the nation's farmers.

Opening the Agriculture Department annual economic outlook conference, Freeman recalled that a year ago, the forecast for 1961 was given at a similar conference in these words:

"In view of the supply, demand and price support outlook, cash receipts from farm marketings and realized net income of farm operators in 1961 are expected to change little from the 1960 level."

Freeman said that was a gloomy forecast—gloomy because it offered no hope for improvement of an average farm income that was less than half of the national average, and gloomy because it indicated no expectation of a halt in the downward trend of farm income as compared with nonfarm income.

"But, as you know, this gloomy forecast did not materialize," the secretary said.

"It did not materialize because of action taken by this administration. Realized net farm income this year will be a billion dollars more than the 1960 level of 11.7 billion."

The four-day conference is being attended by land grant college and university farm specialists as well as Agriculture Department economists.

Ex-U.S. Officer Calls for Plan To Avert War

NEW YORK (AP)—Brig. Gen. Hugh B. Hester, Ret., self-described "thermonuclear pacifist," says a "limited world government" empowered to back up its edicts is necessary to avert a third world war.

Speaking Sunday night at a "rally for peace and friendship" at Carnegie Hall, the former U.S. Army officer said such a world body is the only means of preventing one nation from attacking another.

"Any rationality of war as a means of settling international disputes" ended when the United States dropped the first atom bomb on Hiroshima, Hester said. The rally, attended by about 1,000 persons, was sponsored by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. It was picketed by anti-Communist demonstrators.

Asked whether he belongs to several specific left-wing organizations, Hester replied he belongs to none of them.

He said he had taken an oath to defend the Constitution of the United States against any enemy and that he still is bound by the oath. He added that he is "upholding it better than ever."

Hester, formerly of Silver City, N.M., now lives at Chapel Hill, N.C. He was director of the food and agriculture program in occupied Germany from 1945 to 1947.

Other rally speakers included Dr. Jerome Davis, educator and author, executive director of Enduring Peace, Inc., of West Haven, Conn.; artist Rockwell Kent, national chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship; and Alexander Fomin, counselor of the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

The rally marked the 44th anniversary of the founding of the Soviet state and the 28th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved generally higher in heavy trading early today.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional, a few going to a point or so. Losers were scattered liberally throughout the list.

The market was laboring against upside resistance in the area of the historic high of the Dow Jones industrial average. Whether it could clear this barrier was a major technical question.

Steels showed a slight edge toward the upside. Most coppers were lower. Autos were mixed.

Oils showed scarcely any change. Rails edged higher, with some issues unchanged.

Mail order-retail stocks moved upward slightly. Rubbers were mixed. Electronics displayed some small plus signs and aircrafts were narrowly mixed.

The ticker tape lagged behind transactions for most of the first half hour, then caught abreast.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds advanced.

Two Area Holstein Cows Establish Records

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced completion of outstanding official production records by two area registered Holstein cows. They are Ridgely Holbon Queen Eleanor, owned by Ridgely Farms, Stone Ridge, produced 19,289 pounds of milk and 828 pounds of butterfat in 365 days on twice daily milking as a 5-year-old.

The second is Ellbank Ormsby Admiral Ella, owned by estate of Roy W. Wright, Ellbank Farm, Pleasant Valley, produced 15,967 pounds milk and 587 pounds butterfat in 311 days on twice daily milking as a 4-year-old.

Cornell University working in close cooperation with the national Holstein organization, supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the official herd testing program. These programs provide continuing lactation and lifetime production records on every cow in participating registered Holstein herds.

Tightened Parole

Haven Prison, where inmates staged a hunger strike apparently designed to bring parole policies to public attention.

The inmates at Auburn and Green Haven protested against a Court of Appeals decision that, in effect, upheld the state's policy on crediting time off for good behavior only to a convict's minimum sentence.

Thus, if a man is refused parole when eligible, he cannot later get credit for time earned by good behavior.

The prisoners at Auburn refused to work for two days.

Mutual Fund Charge
Second to Performance

Q "I am 51 years old and would like to invest in a good no-load mutual fund. What ones are available?" — J. B.

Q "I have an infant for whom I would like to provide a college education. I understand that there are mutual funds available that do not charge the 8 per cent commission to buy shares. Would you name some of them for me?" — S. R.

A) These questions bring up an interesting subject on which many fund buyers know little about.

Investors who want professional management — and yet are reluctant to pay the relatively high commission fees — might do well to take a good look at the no-load mutuals. While in the minority, a number of funds such as Johnston, deVegh, Scudder, Stevens & Clark, Energy Fund, Stein Roe & Farnham, T. Rowe Price, and Loomis-Stayles do not charge the customary 7 or 8 per cent premium for the shares. These are all reputable funds, and I would make my decision as to which to purchase by learning what their investment objectives are and how well they have done in achieving them.

In a broad sense, I would not pick any fund solely because it makes no sales charge. The real determinant should be performance — with the sales load definitely a secondary consideration.

Q "Three years ago I bought Tennessee Gas Transmission common. Since that time the shares have done virtually nothing. Should I sell or hold?" — M. W.

A) Tennessee Gas Transmission has made reasonably good progress in recent years, but the uncertainties and delays caused by Government regulation have done much to cool investor interest in the shares. At current prices I think the issue offers good value; and, if you want income, I advise you to hold. However, if you are mainly after growth, I suggest you switch into Norwich Pharmacal (NYSE), which to my mind has much better appreciation potential.

Parents Attend Marlboro Schools Open House Event

Marlboro High School was the scene of great activity Wednesday night as approximately 175 parents followed the schedules of their sons and daughters through an imaginary school day.

The American Education Week program, sponsored by Marlboro-Milton Teachers Association was under the direction of Edward Stearns, chairman; Mrs. Rita Matrazza and Mrs. Betty Martuscello.

Parents pronounced the program both enjoyable and informative, as they met with the teachers of the various classes. Each teacher presented a summary of the objectives of his course and held a brief question and answer period. At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by the parents of seventh and eighth grade students.

As a result of the enthusiasm shown by the parents, future meetings are being planned to discuss and explain programs of various grade levels, and to outline the function of some departments.

Syracuse Traffic Deaths Total 13 Up to Now

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The death of Mrs. Laura E. Ludeman, 89, of Syracuse, pushed the city's traffic toll for the year to 13, one more than during all of 1960.

Mrs. Ludeman died Saturday of head injuries suffered Nov. 3, when she was struck by an automobile on a city street.

OLD TIMERS' CIVIL WAR NOTES

Civil War soldiers from the Rondout Valley included John Brodhead, member of an old High Falls family, who enlisted, 1862, at the age of 18 in C Company, 120th Infantry and served to July 8, 1865. The Ulster County regiment, originally attached to the Excelsior Brigade, was transferred to the 2nd Army Corps in 1864. On the second day at Gettysburg, Brodhead was severely wounded by three bullets. Following recovery and return to duty, he was shot four times in the affair at Thatchers Run. After treatment in three hospitals he returned to High Falls. He became connected with a cement company and was made a trustee of the Ulster County Savings Institution.

Another Ulster soldier from the Rondout Creek area was Asa S. Clyne who was born 1841, one of 11 children of John W. and Ann E. Schoonmaker Clyne. Warning farmers. He enlisted May, 1862 in the 19th N. Y. Volunteer Infantry and on Feb. 4, 1864 he joined Co. F, 63rd Infantry, Irish Brigade. Clyne participated in 15 battles in Virginia. He was wounded June 16, 1864, in the fighting before Petersburg where his comrades believing him dead left him on the battlefield and he was taken prisoner. After enduring the horrors of Andersonville Prison until March 4, 1865, he returned to the Federal lines at Wilmington, N. C. Clyne married Phoebe Vradenburgh and their children were Jesse, Ralph and Minnie. He engaged in business at Port Ben 23 years and later moved to Ellenville.

Nov. 19, 1863, women of the Town of Lloyd held a festival in the new hall of Monroe Deyo, the proceeds to be applied to the erection of a monument to the memory of deceased soldiers from that town.

A number of Ulster County boys who belonged to the 4th N. Y. Cavalry had quite a hot time of it at Germania Ford, near Culpepper, Va., on Nov. 26, 1863, when a detail of 100 troops commanded by Capt. E. D. Schwartz staged a daring charge across the river and through outmanned, rode headlong into the Confederate ranks. Henry Delamater, a local man not yet 20, described the action rather colorfully: "Like tongues of white flame those steel blades rose and fell, lopping off arms, crushing brains and emptying saddles. Captain Schwartz who had got ahead of the fleeing Johnnies, had to use his pistol in getting back to his troops who had wheeled and rejoined their infantry escort."

Local soldiers were getting plenty of action down in Tennessee, too, in early winter of '63, where the 102nd Infantry, made up in part of Ulster recruits and veterans was in the thick of it. General Geary's 2nd Division, 12th Army Corps flag now floated in the breeze at the very summit of Lookout Mountain. A bulletin revealed that Major Elliott had been killed and Lt. Col. R. J. Every received a leg wound which necessitated amputation. November 25 was a "busy day;" Sherman was swinging into the enemy boldly and Missionary Ridge was the watchword.

Hooker pushed his troops boldly forward from the east side of Lookout under a terrible cannonading from the enemy and hit the Johnnies in the flank, riddling the whole body. "Such a 'getting up and get' was never before witnessed upon this continent; ordnance and stores, cannon and garrison equipment literally covered the ground. We waged bitter contests across the Chickamauga, at Ringold, Ga., across level fields under galling fire. Our Col. James C. Lane of the 102nd bears a charmed life—always in the thick of the fighting the past two years, he was wounded only once—at Gettysburg."

A Yankee soldier who signs himself P.P.W., Co. A, 16th N. Y. Volunteer Artillery, writes from Yorktown, Va., under date of Dec. 8, 1863, telling of target practice firing 32-pound shells and a review of General Vicksburg's Brigade, comprising the 148th New York, the 16th Artillery, 3 batteries of light artillery and three regiments of "Darks." He further says: while writing this letter a poor shot over our heads caused by new recruits cutting a fuse, burst and a piece tore a big hole in a captain's tent, knocking the stove over, ripping up flooring and scaring the captain's Negro waiter most to death. "I wish I could be in old Ulster County on New Year's to take a ride behind some bells and have a good dinner of roasted turkey."

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

GROWTH

Growth has become a fetish with countless investors. They want their dollars to increase by arithmetical proportions. To them, 4 per cent and safely represent horse-and-buggy days.

In 1961 they are looking for future International Business Machines stocks. Why, even equities like General Electric, DuPont, Eastman Kodak, and Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea might satisfy their whims.

Now, unquestionably, there are such stocks. But good fortune, and not careful economic analysis, is going to point to large capital gains. Growth is a broad and general term and investors will have to have some luck in picking out the best stocks for big profits.

There are two kinds of growth. The first is that which comes from steadily improving standards of living and inexorable population increase. This growth is slow and steady and it can be relied upon. Statistics of leading corporations prove such growth.

To illustrate: In 1940, General Motors' product sales were for $1.8 billion. In 1950, the amount was $7.5 billion. In 1960, it was $12.7 billion. By 1970 it should be $16 billion at least. Is growth there? Yes, to a limited degree.

In 1940, Standard Oil of New Jersey sold products worth $821 millions. In 1950 sales totaled $3.1 billion, and in 1960 they were $8 billion. Where will the company be in 1970? With petrochemicals coming along fast, sales should be over 12 billion a year! Growth? Sure.

Now the dynamic growth most investors are looking for is in risk-laden common stocks of new corporations whose economic virtues have yet to be proved.

And America is full of them. But the investor who wants to make 1,000 per cent on his money during the 1960-1970 decade must take great chances to accomplish this. There are plenty of low-priced speculative stocks that will increase in value ten times in ten years. But who can choose them for sure? Nobody.

Growth is a relative thing. Slow, steady growth can be studied and charted. Dynamic growth can't be. When investors ask me for the name of a good growth stock, I ask, "What kind of growth do you want?"

The sound growth of General Motors, DuPont, and Standard Oil of New Jersey has been shown in this article. It is based on population increase, rising standards of living, higher national income and inflation.

But every reader of this piece who wants his dollars to grow very rapidly must be able to assume large risks, and if he can't afford to lose some money, he had better stay close to the store.

If I had to mention three sound stocks that may do extraordinarily well in the decade ahead, they would be Union Carbide (the second largest chemical enterprise in the world), Morgan-Guaranty Trust Company (the classiest bank in the world), and another chemical company—Olin Mathieson.

All will grow substantially in the years ahead, and the stocks will be split up in the meantime.

What is a

CRIOCERIS EMERICIANUM?

A Crioceris emericianum is a highly organized invertebrate marine animal having a horny, circular shell.

The study of marine life as a part of zoology is important in tracing the development of all living creatures including man. From it may come a fuller understanding of our own bodily structure. Unfortunately many potential scientists may never pursue this science because they may never go to college. Already many colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.

State's Business Reaches All-Time September Peak

ALBANY — Business activity in New York State reached an all-time peak in September, the State Commerce Department reported today.

The state's preliminary seasonally adjusted Index of Business Activity rose to 147 (1947-49 equals 100), two points above August and six points higher than the September 1960 figure.

Many Advances

Increased activity in most sectors of the economy, especially construction, transportation, communications, public utilities and retail trade, marked the advance.

Employment in the state reached 7,435,000, a gain of 80,000 over August and only 10,000 under last September's record high. Substantial month-to-month employment increases were reported by manufacturers and construction contractors. Manufacturing employment reached 1,864,300, a gain of 16,100 over the August total. Employment on construction contracts stood at 266,800, an increase of 12,700 over August.

In September, unemployment was cut to 410,000, the lowest level of the year. This represented a drop to 5.2 per cent of the state's labor force, compared with 5.9 per cent for August. In the nation as a whole, the unemployment rate was 5.7 per cent.

Another indication of brightening economic conditions in the state was the removal, by the U. S. Department of Labor, of the Albany-Schenectady-Troy area from the substantial labor surplus category. Only two major areas — Buffalo and Utica-Rome — are still in that classification, as are 16 smaller ones.

Retail Activity Jumps

Although national retail sales, seasonally adjusted, remained the same as August, New York State's seasonally adjusted retail activity jumped three points to 137, a point above the year-ago level. Back-to-school purchases and sales of 1962 autos helped account for the strong advances.

The retail outlook for October was equally favorable. Department store sales in the New York Federal Reserve District for the four weeks ending October 21 were four per cent above the corresponding period of 1960.

Personal income in the state continued to expand in the first eight months of 1961. According to Business Week estimates, the January-August total climbed to $31.9 billion, about 0.9 per cent more than the same period last year.

Health for All

Winter Vacation

Travel agents and resort operators wise as well could have 12 months of vacation every year. It would mean money in the bank for them. Until we get closer to that millennium — and maybe it wouldn't be as much fun as we think — they'll have to be satisfied with the growing trend towards winter vacations.

A winter vacation is a good idea, especially when the company you work for thinks so too. You don't get outside as much in the winter if you live in a cold climate; those coughs and sneezes build up, you feel overworked and droopy. A rest and a change can do a lot of good.

But what if you can't get a week or two off? What if those glamorous winter vacations are for other, more fortunate, people? Is there anything you can do to keep from ending up the winter feeling like a plant growing in the dark? Plan your life a little.

Maybe some extra sleep would help. One night a week to bed at 8 o'clock, perhaps. Or an occasional Saturday of breakfast in bed and nap till noon, if you can get your husband or wife to cooperate.

Maybe you need some relief from cabin fever. Can you take the family out to eat now and then? Or how about a short trip over a three-day weekend? Plan on it for the break in routine if nothing else.

Would a daily walk refresh you? Would a little more attention to eating the foods you need to strengthen your resistance? How about eating a decent breakfast, for instance?

And have you been to the doctor for your yearly physical checkup, including a chest X-ray or tuberculin test? Now's a good time — before the winter winds really blow.

Firm Makes Vest That Could Help Man Out in Space

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Bell Aerosystems Co., says it has developed a gas-powered vest that could propel an astronaut short distances through weightless space.

An astronaut wearing the device could thus climb out of his orbiting space craft to fix or inspect something on the surface without the risk of floating away the company said.

The device, called a "Zero Gravity Belt," is a ring of coiled gas tubes designed to strap around a man's waist. The tubes contain a compressed gas which provides thrust when pushed out through jets.

When the wearer wants to move forward, he pushes a control forward that fires the gas from jets at the back of the belt. When he wants to go in any other direction, he presses controls that send the gas through other jets.

Bell said tests in a space-like weightless environment in ground and aircraft chambers have proven the belt practical. The company designed the belt without government contract.

Waiter Shoots Woman, Then Kills Himself

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A railroad dining car waiter wounded a woman in a crowded barroom Saturday night, then ran outside and shot himself in the head, police said.

The body of Rafe Moss, 53, was found about two blocks from the tavern in a parking lot.

Police said Moss fired three shots from a .38-caliber pistol in the tavern. Two struck Mrs. Sylvia Walker, 26, in the arm and hip and the third went into the foot.

The woman was listed in fair condition at Emergency Hospital. Detectives said they knew of no motive for the shooting. They said it was not known if Moss and Mrs. Walker were even acquainted.

Famous Locomotive

Most famous locomotive of the Civil War was the "General." Captured by Yankee raiders in 1862, it was pursued and recaptured by the Confederates after a thrilling chase of nearly 100 miles on the line between Atlanta and Chattanooga.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In caves on Okinawa, in swamps in North Carolina and on unidentified bases in Asia, American troops are learning judo ("silent killing"), how to kidnap important persons and how to blow up bridges and buildings, among other things.

It is all part of courses in unconventional or guerrilla warfare currently being taught picked men of our armed services.

A brief but fascinating glance at their training was provided Sunday night by CBS' 20th Century. We saw the soldiers studying their second language, hijacking a supply truck, learning to parachute from planes and emerging from submerged submarines to raid shorelines.

Undoubtedly, there were many secret phases of their training we didn't see. It was both heartening and a little frightening—hear-tening that we are training such a corps, frightening that we may have to use it.

Somebody had a lovely idea. Take TV cameras and lots of toys into New York's Central Park on an Indian summer day and show the toys to the folks at home—just before the holiday shopping season.

But then the idea began to go to pieces. Somebody also had the idea of having Harpo Marx, the silent one who whistles, blows a horn and makes funny faces, wander around demonstrating the toys. Harpo may be a comedy institution, but he had to rely almost completely on the funny faces Sunday night—and they weren't enough.

Then there was Carol Burnette in stretch pants and turtleneck sweater trying her best to make something bright out of dullness. And Edie Adams in ruffled, unattractive clothes trying to sing a song while carrying on a sort of comic war with children.

As for the toys, there was an unimaginative superabundance of stuffed animals and dolls. The show wouldn't have been entertaining, even if broadcast during the early kiddie hours. Unfortunately, NBC's "Wonderful World of Toys" was really aimed at the world of adult buyers, and it started at 10 p.m. Car manufacturers probably loved all the free plugs, but the show was a real drag.

Begon's Begonia

A French amateur botanist, Michael Begon, administrator in the West Indies during the time of Louis XIV, gave his name to the begonia. The plant reached England in 1777 and its culture in Belgium began in the middle of the 19th century.

First Daily

First American daily newspaper was the Pennsylvania Evening Post, which started publishing as a daily in 1783 and consisted of two pages.

Sound of Church Music

NEW YORK (AP)—Unusual acoustics in the basement of the Lunt-Fontanne theater are utilized to provide a cathedral-like quality for the opening choral melody in "The Sound of Music." The sponsors of the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical found the tonal effect so to their liking that a tape recording of that single number was made for use of the national company on cross-country tour.

DOES GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKE YOU FEEL OLD

After 45, common kidney or bladder irritations often occur and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backache and feel old, tired, depressed, in such irritation. CYSTEX usually brings relief. Relaxing comfort by curbing irritating urination in uric acid, acid urine and by giving analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at drugstore. Cheer up and feel better fast.

1,182 Ulster, Sullivan Acres In Purchase for Recreation

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Conservation Department said today it had agreed to buy nearly 3,000 acres of land in 14 counties for recreation use.

The purchases, Commissioner Harold G. Wilm said, were part of the land-acquisition program under a $75-million bond issue. Wilm said 2,100 of the acres would be added to public hunting lands, another 500 were for wilderness consolidation and the rest was for multiple-use recreation areas.

The tracts include land for a public campsite in the Catskills and a boat-launching site on Canandaigua Lake.

The land purchases, by county: Allegany—209 acres in Birdsall for multiple-use purposes.

Cattaraugus—150 acres in Allegany for multiple use; 60 acres in Little Valley for multiple use; 124 acres in the town of South Valley for multiple use.

Chautauque—163 acres in North Harmony for multiple use; 50 acres in Sherman for multiple use.

Chenango and Madison —273 acres in Sherburne and Brookfield for multiple use.

Cortland—105 acres in Cuyler for multiple use.

Franklin—36 acres in Brandon for multiple use.

Fulton — 30 acres in Ephratah for multiple use.

Hamilton—98 acres in the town of Wells for wilderness consolidation.

Steuben—300 acres in Hornellsville for multiple use.

Sullivan—400 acres in Rockland and Neversink for wilderness consolidation.

Ulster—782 acres in Denning for a new public campsite.

Washington—36 acres in White Creek for multiple use.

Yates—Two acres in Italy for a boat-launching site on Canandaigua Lake.

Hopes Seem Dim For U. S. to Orbit Man This Year

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Spacecraft trouble has delayed an attempt to orbit a chimpanzee and virtually wiped out United States' hopes of orbiting a man this year.

Project Mercury officials called off Tuesday's scheduled chimp launching after a test Sunday disclosed a gas leak in the space capsule's in-flight control system.

This necessitated removing the two-ton craft from atop the Atlas booster rocket, which is on the launching pad. Inspection, repair and replacement will take at least a week, perhaps as much as two weeks.

Authoritative sources reported the spacecraft trouble was a leak in the hydrogen peroxide gas system which controls the position of the vehicle in flight. The gas is highly corrosive and could have damaged electrical or other systems.

Successful completion of the chimpanzee shot this week was almost a must if the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was to have a chance of rocketing a human astronaut into orbit in 1961.

Matter of Fact

A blazing fish was the lamp for Pacific Northwest Indians. This was the "candle-fish." The candlefish was so fat, a wick strung through its body turned it into an easy-burning candle. Natives netted this smelt-like fish at the mouth of the Columbia River. Candlefish were a welcome source of light, if you didn't mind the smell.

PRICKLEY PRECAUTION IN BERLIN—Brandenburg Gate, on the dividing line between East and West Berlin, looms beyond this barbed wire entanglement which, surprisingly enough, is on the western side. The British erected the barrier as "a normal safety precaution." East Germans closed off the once-heavily traveled gate some weeks ago.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Show Child Strength And He'll Trust You

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Our 6-year-old boy won't leave the TV to come to meals at night. Sometimes I have to give him supper in the kitchen because he wants to see the end of some show. He is very disobedient about going to bed on time, too. My husband and I wonder if you think it would be a good idea to move the TV set into the dinette so that the boy can look at it while he eats.

ANSWER: Madam, in comparison with you and your husband, your 6-year-old child is a weak and defenseless creature.

You possess not only the muscular power to control his TV viewing but many other controlling powers over his life. You control his food, his clothes, his warmth and shelter, the hours of his play, the toys he loves, his associations with friends.

You are Goliath of power compared to your child—and yet you complain of his insistence on looking at TV instead of eating as though you were the midgets and he were the big, strong giant.

Of course he disobeys you. He doesn't know what's the matter with you. He doesn't know why you don't make it impossible for him to look at TV at mealtime time because he expects you to know more about what is good for him than he knows.

I sometimes wish that America's parent educators would start an information campaign on the powers we hold over children instead of continuing to exhort us to "love" them.

For it is only when we are sure of the extent to which we control children that we can use the control reasonably. It's when we aren't sure of it that we make bossy noises that sound like power or the bleating ones that plead for it. And children disgusted with our wishy-washiness, turn from us into defiance—or, as in your case, to the comforting strength of TV heroes.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynex)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

West Cossackie Man Killed When Auto Hits Tree

Herry W. Jenkins Sr., 54, of 55 Bailey Avenue, West Cossackie, was killed early today when his automobile crashed into a ditch and rammed a tree as he fled a state police cruiser on Route 9W in West Cossackie.

Trooper A. J. Peterson reported that he and Trooper C. A. Svenson spotted Jenkins about 12:05 a. m. speeding up Route 9W. The trooper said the man raced at speeds up to 80 miles an hour for 5.3 miles until he went around a sharp curve to the left, skidded across the road and crashed into a large ditch on the right side of the highway, landing against a tree.

The troopers contacted Corporal Henry Millsap of Catskill. He called in Dr. John A. Vosburgh of Cossackie who pronounced Jenkins dead of a skull fracture. The troopers also disclosed that he had three traffic violations marked on his operator's license.

Ulster Library Group Postpones Plans for Charter

Town of Ulster Library Association agreed to postpone action on applying for a state charter pending a review of further information, and announced plans for Saturday afternoon movies to be shown at Chambers School Auditorium for the benefit of the library.

Action was taken at the meeting last week. Those present were Edward Crosby, Hubert Brink, Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, the Rev. Julian Lore, Bruce Burgher and the Mesdames Robert Hensel, Walter Burger and Michael Maxson.

President Crosby advised the board that negotiations were being completed for Saturday afternoon movies to be shown in the Chambers School Auditorium for the benefit of the library. The board selected "Francis Goes to West Point" and "The Egg and I" as possible selections for the first or second Saturday in December.

Jack Drewes, president of the Town of Ulster Kiwanis advised President Crosby that a yearly pledge of $250 will be made to the library for the purchase of children's books. Mr. Marion-Ruby Ladies Fire Auxiliary Unit forwarded $50 toward its pledge for the purchase of reference books. The board authorized President Crosby and Burgher to expend $100 for reference books and $75 for children's books.

Mrs. Maxson was authorized to expend $75 for the purchase of adult fiction and non-fiction. It was unanimously agreed to postpone action on application for a state charter until more information could be had for review.

Treasurer Robert Ohlson and Musialkiewicz are formulating plans for the board's annual membership drive to be held the first part of January.

The library is open on Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p. m. and on Wednesday and Friday from 3 to 4 p. m.

The Woodstock Democratic town committee and campaign committee will meet at 7:30 tonight at Democratic headquarters on the Village Green.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 15, at 8 p. m. at Deane's upstairs.

A harvest round and square dance will be held at the Wittenberg Sportsmen Club on Saturday, Nov. 18, at 8 p. m. The event will be sponsored by the club's Ladies Auxiliary. A cordial welcome is extended to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Inness left for Delray Beach, Florida, immediately after voting last Tuesday.

Senior Citizens

A regular meeting of the Woodstock Senior Citizens will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 21, at the Methodist Church hall. All persons 60 years and older are welcome. Entertainment will be furnished by Mrs. Berny and Mrs. Merrick. Plans for the Christmas party will be announced. Refreshments will be served.

Christmas Tea

A Christmas Tea with fancy table, Christmas articles and bake table will be held in the Overlook Methodist Church hall, Woodstock, on Saturday, Nov. 18. The tea, sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service, is an annual affair. It will begin at 1 p. m. and continue through 5 p. m.

Christian Science

Theme: "Soul, Body" The availability here and now of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be stressed at Christian Science Church services this Sunday in Woodstock.

Luke's account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the "woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself" is included in the Scriptural readings. "Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read: "God will heal the sick through man, whenever man is governed by God. Truth casts out error now as surely as it did nineteen centuries ago. All of Truth is not understood; hence its healing power is not fully demonstrated" (p.495). The Golden Text is from

ASK THE DESIGNER by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I read your column diligently and would appreciate it if you would please give me some much-needed advice. I have a two-piece dress which I have altered. The skirt is straight cut in keeping with styles these days. But I am told that the material itself is out of date. I'm sending you a sample of it. Would you please tell me what you think of it yourself? — Mrs. A. H.

Dear Mrs. A. H.: I consulted with David Crystal of New York on this one. After seeing the fabric sample you sent, Mr. Crystal has this to say: "As you have already purchased this dress, it would be a shame not to wear it. But, in future shopping, keep in mind the marvelous range of fabrics in great variety of textures and colors now available. They are a dream to care for and a joy to wear."

"Of course, there will always be classic favorites that women will love and wear, such as silks, wools, velvets and linens, but new miracle fabrics have been created to meet the needs of a modern, American way of life. And crease-resistant, easily washable drip-dry fabrics are a must in every woman's wardrobe."

Dear Gaile: During a woman's pregnancy, she is more self-conscious than ever about her appearance. And, at present, this is my problem. I have quite a few maternity separates from past pregnancies and am in doubt about when certain fabrics should be worn. Two tops are black with silver metallic threads. One is red with metallic detailing. These tops are to be worn with black velvet or faille skirts. I also have a black velvet dress. Could you please tell me what months of the year these fabrics are appropriate?—G.

Dear G.: You are absolutely right in thinking that your appearance is of paramount importance in bolstering your self-confidence at this time. So select with great care the clothes you'll wear during these months. The fabrics you describe are ideal for the holiday season and after. And here are some further suggestions from designer Louise Gartner of Page Boy:

"Why not add a bright, lightweight wool made with tunic length top and a white linen collar? Or a two-piece textured dress with fringed lowered neckline and collarless neck? For really festive evenings, consider a pure silk chiffon with raised waistline, blazing with Roman stripes! Don't be shy in your approach to maternity clothes; be fashionable! You'll feel and look lovely!"

Please send your fashion problems to Gaile Dugas in care of this paper. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column. (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Camouflage Puts Oversize Furniture in Perspective

Oversized, overstuffed furniture is often the result of a past mistake in purchasing, and therefore hard to live with. In small rooms, these pieces command far too much attention for a successful room effect.

It isn't always possible to get rid of big, expensive pieces of furniture. But it is possible to minimize their bulk and size by using upholstery or slip cover fabric that matches or blends with wall or background color.

Don't fear that the result will be monotonous. The new covering will put the furniture in its proper place, and into a more pleasant relationship with the room and in other furnishings. Extra accents of color can be added in accessories, flowers, books, or a gay-patterned area rug.

Dear Polly: The ceiling plaster in our bedroom is bad. My husband insists that we have a new white ceiling of composition tiles. To me, they suggest a basement playroom. What can I do about them if he insists on having them? —Worried.

Dear Worried: Your worries are over. At a recent showing of rooms done by top flight decorators, tiles on one bedroom ceiling were stenciled for an individual look. The decorated squares made a border around the ceiling. For a more unified look, repeat this stenciled design elsewhere—on door panels, or perhaps around the window frames. Ask your local lumber dealer about tiles that are available decorated. These are easier to install, though they offer less scope in color and design.

Dear Polly: I am heartily sick of my bedroom. What can you recommend that is not costly? One window has white nylon curtains and white blind. Walls are papered beige. Bed is old white iron with patchwork cover. Floor is painted yellow with rag rugs. Woodwork is blue, as are dresser and chair. What do you think? —Mrs. J. F.

Dear Mrs. J. F.: I think that beige wallpaper should hide behind some snowy white paint.

Assuming that the blue and yellow look well with the quilt and rugs, I recommend adding 1-inch blue and yellow bands just above the hems and below the headings of your white curtains.

Paint the ceiling yellow, perhaps just a shade lighter than the floor.

Dear Reader: A heavy volume of mail doesn't permit Mrs. Cramer to answer her letters and post cards individually. But she will comment in her column on decorating problems of general interest. She cannot undertake to return floor plans or fabric swatches which are enclosed with letters.

No One Reported Hurt in Rt. 209 Car-Truck Crash

No one was reported injured in a highway mishap on Route 209 Saturday afternoon in the Town of Marbletown, involving two passenger vehicles and a dump truck, Kingston state police said.

Alfred Buchanan, 39, of Washington Avenue, Kingston, was operating a 1957 dump truck; William Cointot, 62, of Woodbourne, was driving a 1951 sedan, and Lawrence Swars, 58, of Stone Ridge, was operating his 1950 foreign compact.

Trooper David Wachtel said the truck was proceeding north on Route 209 near Ivan Inn and the two cars were traveling south.

The Swars car was attempting to pass the Cointot vehicle when Swars claims he was blinded by the Sun and collided with the truck and the car he was passing, troopers said. The Swars car was extensively damaged, Trooper Wachtel said. The mishap occurred at 4:30 p. m.

County Realtors Meet Thursday

Arthur Schoenherr of the Inter-County Title Guaranty and Mortgage Co. of Albany, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Board of Realtors Thursday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Schoenherr will speak on "Applying for G.I. Loans and Release of Liability." He will be introduced by President Raymond Korzeniorfer. Peter Weider is program chairman.

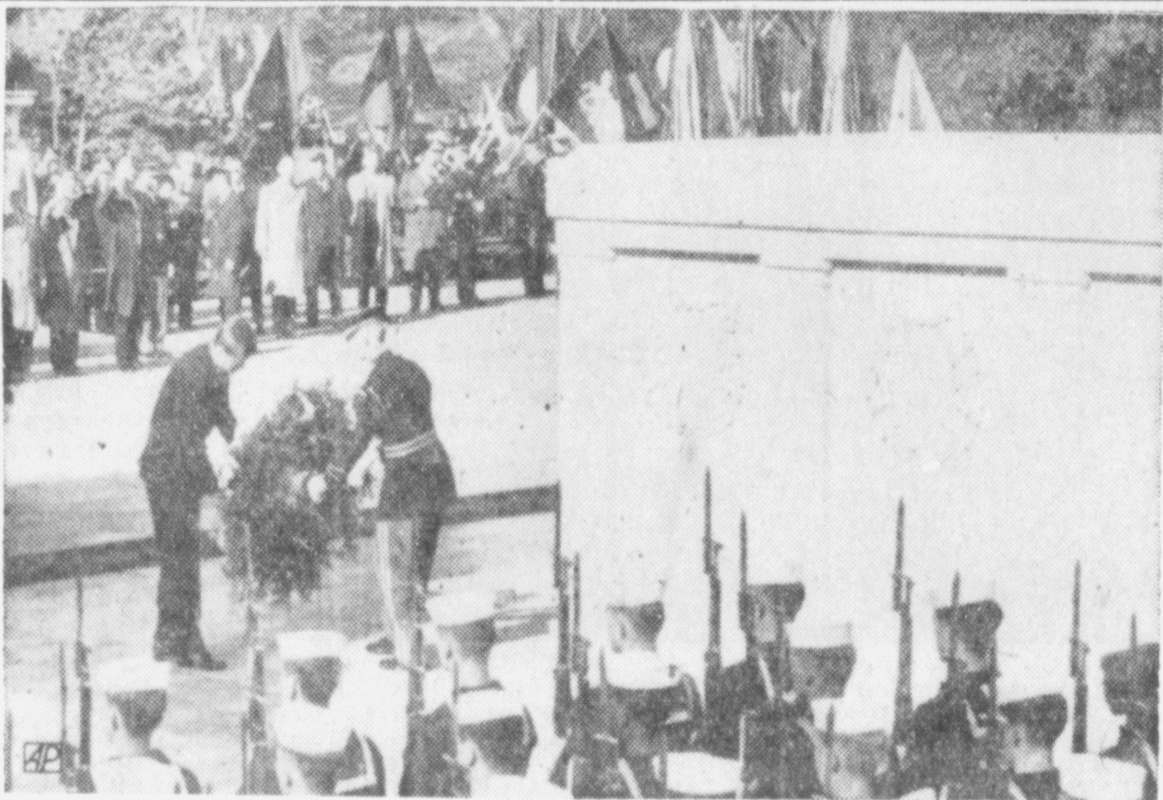

Following the talk there will be reports from the annual dinner committee, Community College, educational program, membership and grievance and advisory committees.

President Korzeniorfer also will announce his committees for 1961-62.

Benton Injured When Deer Hits His Car

A Kingston motorist and his car came off second best early today in Sullivan County in an encounter with a deer. State police at Ellenville reported that as Arthur Benton, 28, of Greenkill Avenue was traveling on Route 52 in the Loch Sheldran section of Fallsburgh, a deer suddenly darted into the left front of his automobile. The impact tossed the animal against the windshield and shattered the glass. Benton was given first aid treatment for cuts on the left hand, left arm and nose.

Trooper Joseph Ellsworth of the Ellenville Barracks investigated.

Ulster County Man Among 12 in 3-Day State Death Toll

An 86-year-old Ulster County man was one of the victims of accidents that struck the very young and the elderly pushing the weekend accidental death toll in New York State to 15.

The Associated Press reported 12 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the period from 6 p. m., Friday to midnight Sunday night. Three died in other types of accidents.

The traffic victims included Conrad Riedl of RFD 4, Box 466, Kingston, who was killed Friday night when struck by an automobile while he walked up DeWitt Lake Hill on Route 32.

A post-mortem disclosed that Riedl died as the result of a torn blood vessel, Coronel Francis J. McCordie reported today.

Riedl was killed, according to the sheriff's department, when he was hit by an automobile operated by Mary Virginia Sims, 46, of 72 Pine Grove Avenue, about 9:30 p. m. Friday as he walked up the middle of the highway. Deputy Sheriffs Ernest Longyear and Richard Drew Jr., investigated.

Coroner McCordie said the official verdict of death was a torn ascending aorta, the immediate result of a fractured thoracic vertebra.

Funeral services for Riedl will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. from W. N. Conner Funeral home with burial in Hurley Cemetery.

Olive Coons, six months, was suffocated Sunday in her trailer home near Mechanicville. Police said a gas-stove oven used for heating had exhausted the oxygen in the trailer.

A two-car crash on the Taconic Parkway in Dutchess County near Pine Plains claimed the lives of two brothers.

Fred Kilmer, 55, of Mt. Vernon, and his brother Leslie, 54 of Pine Plains were killed in the accident Saturday night.

Other fatal accidents, by community, during the period:

New York—Clarence Burston, 28, of Brooklyn, auto struck a parked truck Saturday.

Batavia—William A. Murphy, 47, of Batavia, auto-bus collision Saturday.

Victor—Dawn Marie Griswold, 3, fell out of a moving car on Route 96 Saturday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin O. Griswold of Rochester.

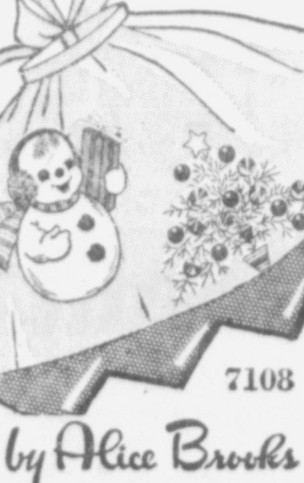

Albany—David Carr, 20, of Delmar, thrown from a car that overturned Sunday.

Big Moose—Andrew Lehman, 62, of Croghan, boat overturned in Stillwater flow Saturday.

Nyack—William Prest, 26, of Newburgh, auto struck an abutment on the Palisades Interstate Parkway Sunday.

Salamanca—Robert T. Wilson, 62, of Salamanca, auto struck a tree Saturday.

Man Is Accused After Collision On Rt. 9W Sunday

Two persons complained of shock, a girl was injured and a motorist was charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated Sunday at 4 p. m., as the result of a two-car collision which occurred on Route 9W at Port Ewen.

Highland State Police said Albert Frederick Fassbender, 40, of Ulster Park, was booked on the motor vehicle charge. He was released pending arraignment at 8 p. m. today before Justice of the Peace Allan S. Dargie, Town of Esopus.

According to Trooper James Kaljian, a car driven by Fassbender was traveling south on Route 9W when it was in collision with a northbound station wagon owned and operated by Theodore Gile Jr., 42, of 18 Golf Terrace, city.

According to a report of Troopers Harry Foster and Joseph Clare, Ira B. Auchmoody, 79, and Maude Auchmoody, 78, both of Kingston, complained of shock. They were passengers in Fassbender's sedan.

Barbara Jean Gile, 7, was treated by a physician for bruises. Troopers said the Auchmoody told authorities they would see their family physician.

Cornell University student from Summit N.J., picked up high-ten wire Sunday.

South Korea Is To Ask for More Aid From U. S.

CHICAGO (AP) — Gen. Park Chung-hee, chief of South Korea's military government, stopped in Chicago Sunday night en route to Washington, where he is expected to ask President Kennedy to step up military and economic aid to his government.

Park planned meetings with South Korean students and Mayor Richard J. Daley before continuing to Washington by plane.

His Chicago stopover was marred by a collision involving five cars in a 50-car motorcade bringing him from the airport to a downtown hotel. It resulted in injuries to six Koreans living in the United States and the American husband of a Korean woman.

They had greeted Gen. Park at the airport. None of the official party was involved in the pileup which occurred on an expressway in a light mist.

Harry Lee, father of Robert E. Lee, was the man who described George Washington as "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

A Hard Pill for Khrushchev

Molotov's Life Ruined Over Picking Stalin as Greatest

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — V. M. Molotov's life has been ruined in a hair-splitting contest. About the only consolation left him is to wonder: Who's next?

The old Bolshevik, now 71, thinks Stalin, his great friend and benefactor, was a more aggressive revolutionary than Premier Khrushchev, and he said so. For this he has been disgraced and Sunday went home to Moscow jobless.

Just as any differences between American Democrats and Republicans, seen from Moscow, must seem infinitesimal, so any differences in the ultimate aims of Stalin and Khrushchev, looked at from here, are practically invisible.

Cold Comfort to Them

Many of the old Bolsheviks, executed by Stalin, were restored by Premier Khrushchev to good standing in the Russian history books after Stalin's death, although this must have been cold comfort to them then.

That was four years ago when Khrushchev first denounced Stalin as a murderous monster. At the time he was in a power struggle, which he won, with Molotov and other old Stalinists like Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich.

They were demoted to obscure jobs, under the Kremlin rule of winner take all, but otherwise left unharmed because Khrushchev was trying some changes such as more civilized treatment for the Soviet people at home and a foreign policy more flexible and imaginative than Stalin's but less openly pugnacious and stupidly stumbling.

Some Examples

Here are a couple examples of the stupidity:
1. Stalin tried to shut off Berlin with a blockade. President Truman countered with the airlift. Stalin tried to be tough. He wasn't tough enough. Because he lacked courage to risk war by shooting down the airlift, the blockade failed.

2. He tried to test the West's will with a war in Korea, letting the North Koreans start it. This no only got nowhere, but Stalin so scared the Allies they formed their NATO military alliance, the last thing he wanted. Nobody has accused Khrushchev of not wanting to spread communism. But in the hydrogen bomb age, when both sides could destroy each other, he is more subtle than Stalin.

so far using devices short of war. But this wasn't good enough for stubborn old Molotov who described Khrushchev's tactics as "antirevolutionary" and "pacifist." Khrushchev now has linked Molotov and the others with Stalin's terror, although he was Stalin's boy, too.

Down the Drain

The result: The Soviet Communist party's 22nd congress recommended that Molotov be thrown out of the party. Thus Molotov's whole life's work—done as he thought right, no matter how it looks to others—goes down the drain.

Since the party switches tactics to fit its needs at any given time, Molotov can only hope that in time Khrushchev will be denounced as an enemy of communism and he himself restored to good standing in the history books.

Recognized Reality

But what makes Molotov's belief that Khrushchev is antirevolutionary and thus anti-Stalin look grotesque when observed from here is that Stalin abandoned Communist revolution not long after he took over from Lenin in the 1920s in order to build up "socialism in one country." This was simply recognition of a reality.

Russia at the time didn't have the strength to export revolution. So Stalin set about building up the Soviet Union as a No. 1 world power. The foundation he laid at home—in industrial and nuclear development—is what now enables Khrushchev to talk tough.

Seen as Managers

There are some who look upon both Stalin and Khrushchev not as revolutionaries at all but as managers. This kind of conclusion seems too early. Stalin was beginning to stir himself after World War II when he had power.

This country's possession of the atomic bomb kept him from being too brazen. If it had not been for that alone after the war, when Europe was prostrate, he might have tried with his huge and intact armies to overrun the area with war and revolution.

There is nothing to indicate Khrushchev is any less revolutionary than Stalin. He is just not as clumsy. And he, like Stalin, is now living in a nuclear age when he has to be careful. This doesn't mean he won't push where he can.

Milk Production Expected to Set Record Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Milk production, which has increased for two years in a row, is expected to set a new record in 1962.

An Agriculture Department outlook report said output next year may reach 127 billion pounds, compared with 125 billion indicated for this year. Such an increase would add greatly to surplus dairy products moving into government hands under price support operations unless consumers start consuming more.

The department said some easing off in beef cattle prices has contributed to an expansion in milk production. This is, more cows were kept for milking purposes than would have been the case had beef cattle prices held steady.

Another factor contributing to the increase in milk production was said to be increases in government price supports for dairy products.

Daytona Beach Wins Shrine Midget Title

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Daytona Beach defeated Jamestown, N.Y., 7-6 with a late rally in the Shrine Midget football game Sunday.

James Ferraro scored in the second period for Jamestown but the try for an extra point failed.

A slow 95-yard Daytona Beach drive produced a last-period touchdown and Carl Percis added the decisive extra point with a run.

A racial controversy over whether a Jamestown Negro player could play in the game was ironed out and the boy, Davie Howie, 13, was in his team's lineup. There were no incidents.

Buffalo State Harrier Wins In Record Time

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Burns of Buffalo State holds the course record of 22:48.5 for the 4.4-mile course at Harpur.

Burns set the record Saturday in winning the annual cross-country meet of the New York State Track and Field Association. Alfred won the team title, its second straight and sixth in 12 association meets.

Jack Coons of Ithaca, who held the old record of 23:15, finished second in a field of 139 runners from 12 colleges.

In the team race, Roberts Wesleyan was second, followed by Buffalo State, Buffalo, Hamilton, Oswego State, Rensselaer Polytechnic, Ithaca, Brockport State, Hartwick, Union and Harpur.

Farmer Chooses to Go Back to State Prison

WESTFIELD, N.Y. (AP) — A farmer who told police he escaped from a Michigan prison farm two years ago has given himself up, because, he said, he was "tired of looking over his shoulder all the time."

State Police said Delbert R. Querveld, 54, who surrendered Saturday, fled a prison farm in Jackson, Mich., in March, 1959, he was serving a five-year term for grand larceny.

Querveld, from nearby Mayville, had been farming since but troopers would not say where he was living. He was held on a charge of being a fugitive from justice, pending the arrival of Michigan authorities.

Saugerties Man Hurt in Mishap

A 58-year-old Saugerties man was injured at 6:30 p. m. Sunday when the 1959 sedan in which he was riding overturned on Route 9W at Grand Street, Highland, according to Trooper James Kaljian.

Max Angiel, of Saugerties, complained of injuries of his right leg, and said he would see his physician.

Angiel was a passenger in a car driven by Max Angiel, 20, of Saugerties.

Troopers Harry Foster and Joseph Clare reported the car was traveling south when an unidentified vehicle pulled out of Grand Street and crossed Route 9W.

Angiel swerved to the center of the highway and his car struck the dividing wall and overturned.

Pennsylvania Considering Governor, Senate Talent

By JOHN KOENIG JR.
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania's 30-member delegation in the House, always a fertile field for selection of gubernatorial or senatorial candidates, is no exception this year.

And with the windup of the Nov. 7 off-year election campaign, political eyes are turning definitely to preparations for the 1962 campaign to elect a governor and a senator.

Although House members are customarily reluctant to disclose ambitions to run for other office, speculation for some time has centered on the aspirations of a number of Pennsylvania congressmen.

Those Mentioned

Figuring prominently in the speculation, and it is for possible selection as candidate for either governor or senator, are Reps. James E. Van Zandt, Altoona, and William W. Scranton, of Scranton, both Republicans.

In addition, Rep. John P. Saylor, Johnstown Republican, is regarded as available. His office reports he has received numerous letters urging him to run for governor.

On the Democratic side, Rep. Thomas E. Morgan of Fredericktown also has been prodded by supporters to seek the governorship. Morgan, however, as chairman of the important House Foreign Relations Committee, is not regarded as anxious to run the risk of losing what he already has.

Amendment Vote Figures
Last Tuesday's rejection by Pennsylvania voters of a proposed amendment to permit a governor to succeed himself is also regarded as inclining men like Morgan to be deterred from seeking the gubernatorial nomination.

In many instances governors of Pennsylvania were left after four years in the executive mansion at Harrisburg to disappear into private life and political oblivion.

On the other hand, the big question mark over redistricting and the chance that all congressional candidates may have to run at large next year has raised the possibility that numerous members of Congress would be interested in running for either governor or senator.

Feb. 20 Deadline

Scheduled to be shorn of three House seats in the next session because of population shifts around the nation, Pennsylvania has only until Feb. 20 to reform its 30 congressional districts into 27 or to elect all 27 congressmen at large.

As a result, several House members have faced the question: If we have to run on a statewide basis anyway, why not go for the big prize—governor?

Dies in Police Chase

WEST CONSAKIE, N.Y. (AP) — A motorist who was being pursued by State Police was killed early today when the automobile he was driving failed to make a turn and struck a tree of Route 9W, 1 1/2 miles south of this Greene County community.

Troopers said Harry W. Jenkins Sr., 54, of West Consaكية was thrown from the car by the impact. They said Jenkins had been speeding.

Physical, Moral Vigor Necessary, CYO Is Advised

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—One of three U.S. Army prisoners in Korea collaborated with the enemy because they didn't have the moral stamina to see their ordeal through, says Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

Kennedy told the National Council of Catholic Youth convention that American youth must regain physical and moral vigor if they are to meet the challenges of the age.

The council's sixth national convention, the largest gathering of Catholic youth in this country, attracted 15,000 teen-agers and young adults. The four-day meeting closed Sunday with a solemn pontifical mass in Buffalo's War Memorial Auditorium.

The Attorney General told 7,500 delegates at the convention dinner Saturday night that fatalities among GIs in Korean prison camps were the highest in American military history, and said that one of 10 U.S. soldiers captured turned informer.

"Those who have made a careful analysis of our poor record in Korea have come to the unanimous conclusion that the explanation was that in many instances that our men had no belief in anything," Kennedy said.

Kennedy was presented the organization's annual Youth Service Medal.

Among several resolutions passed at the closing sessions of the convention was one backing racial integration. It was openly supported by a number of southern young persons.

The first Negro to hold office in the national Catholic organization, Claudia Kregg of Buffalo, was elected vice president Saturday of the group's teen-age section. She was nominated by southern teenagers.

James F. Daly Jr., a Boston schoolteacher, was elected president of the council's young adult section in an atmosphere like that of a national political convention. The section is for Catholic Youth members over 18.

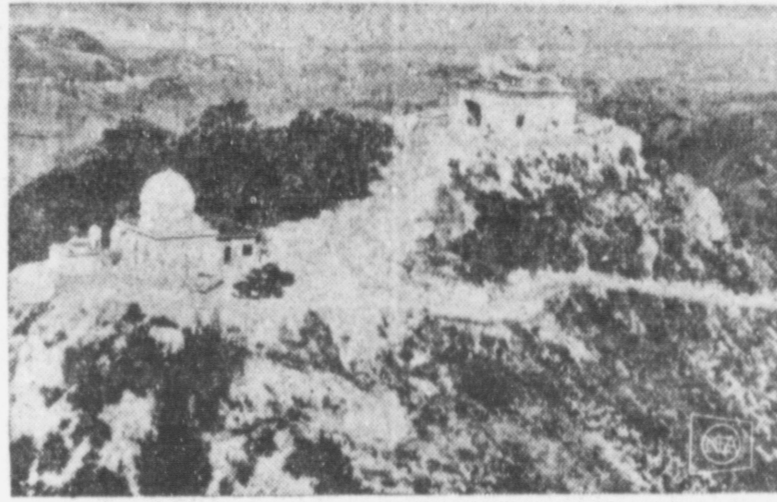

Jean L. Reynolds of Newark, N.J., was elected vice president of the young adults. Elaine C. Patterson of Indianapolis was elected secretary and Jerome E. Fahstrom of Kansas City, Mo., treasurer.

Frank J. Darigan Jr., was elected president of the teen-age section. Jane H. Gallagher of Washington, D.C., was elected secretary and John E. Sheridan of Pittsburgh, treasurer.

Growth and Gains Slated as Topic Of KTF Meeting

Growth and gains in the area of teacher recognition and representation will be discussed at the Tuesday meeting of Kingston Teachers Federation.

Jack Fallon, former Kingston High school teacher and former executive secretary of the Empire State Federation of Teachers will address the meeting. Fallon is currently the legislative assistant to the AFL-CIO Council in Albany.

Harry Anders, president of the local Federation, in making the announcement of Fallon's visit, invited all teachers in Kingston (Consolidated) Schools to attend the meeting in the Living Center of the Vocational Building at 7:30 p. m.

In other Federation news, Anders expressed gratitude on behalf of the Federation to the people of Ulster County for their overwhelming support of the local referendum on the Ulster County Community College. Anders said he hoped that official machinery will now be speeded up to bring the Ulster County Community College into existence at the earliest moment possible.

Charged With Failure To Yield Right of Way

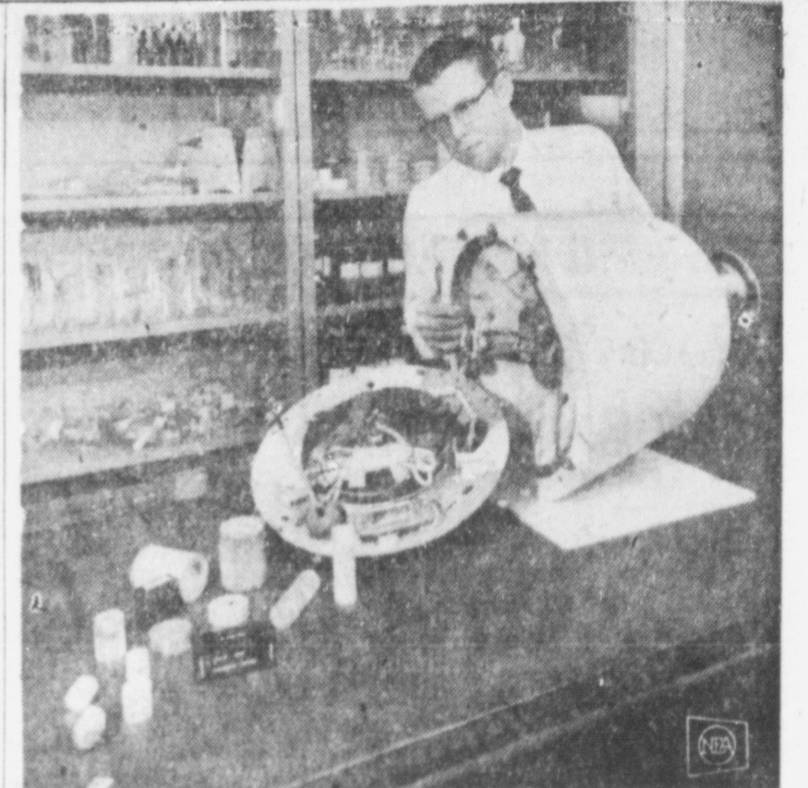

A Cementon motorist faces a charge of failure to yield the right of way as the result of an automobile collision on Route 9W in West Athens Sunday night.

State police reported that Felix Wysocki, 34, of Maple Avenue, Cementon, hit a car operated by Arthur Engle, Jr., 23, of Hillsdale, N. J., at the junction of Route 9W and the Schenck Turnpike in West Athens about 10:40 p. m. Both cars were damaged.

Trooper A. J. Peterson of the Leeds Sub-Station investigated.

Demands Mercenaries

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula called on the United Nations today for practical means to end Katanga's secession "once and for all." He demanded that all mercenaries and irregular foreign military advisers arrested by U.N. forces be handed over to Congolese courts for trial.

INSIDE OUTER SPACE—What goes up will come down when a space capsule like the one above is fired 1,165 miles into space. Part of BIOS I, the first U.S. space project devoted almost entirely to biological experiments, the G.E.-built capsule will be packed with biological specimens to investigate the effects of space on living tissues. The capsule protects the experiments during shock of re-entry.

Little Hope Is Held For Finding Doctor

SPECULATOR, N.Y. (AP)—Searchers held little hope Monday of finding Dr. Douglas E. Schultz alive in the Adirondack wilds where he disappeared while deer-hunting Nov. 4.

The largest search force for a hunter this year is looking for the 34-year-old New York City psychiatrist.

More than 500 searchers sided by aircraft, scoured the woods around Siamese Pond Sunday, as State Police dragged the pond.

Forest rangers said they did not believe the 6-foot-3, 220-pounder could have survived the sub-freezing nights in the mountains.

Opposition Boycott Fails

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Premier Antonio Salazar's government reported today that an opposition boycott of Sunday's one-party legislative election failed.

Government spokesmen said that, with the ballots in European Portugal nearly all counted, about 70 per cent of the 1.3 million eligible voted despite opposition appeals to shun Salazar's National Union candidates.

All opposition candidates withdrew last week, leaving the field clear for the 130 candidates of the National Union.

Reports on Rioting

TUNIS (AP)—The Algerian Nationalists' official newspaper El Moudjahid, said today partial reports from the underground network in Algeria showed 147 persons were killed and 405 wounded during demonstrations Nov. 1.

According to official French figures, about 90 Moslems were killed and 140 wounded during rioting or in attacks on French troops.

No Comment on Reds

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Premiers of five Nordic nations — Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway and Sweden—have decided to speed up the work of mutual co-operation. They made the announcement Sunday in closing a two-day conference.

The premiers made no comment on the Soviet request for mutual defense talks with the Finnish government.

Rayburn Takes Food

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, reported weakening rapidly Saturday, rallied Sunday night and took a little food.

Rayburn, 79, is dying of cancer. The Risser Hospital announced Saturday afternoon that death could be a few hours or a few days away.

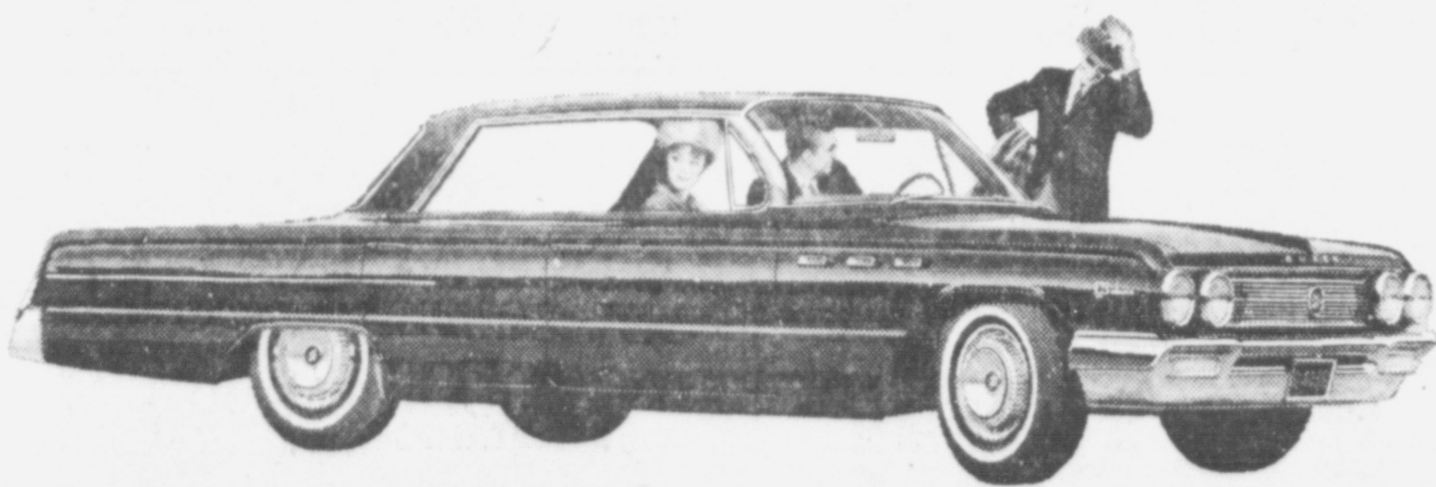

Syria Election Due

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syria on Dec. 1 will hold its first national elections since its break-away from the United Arab Republic, Damascus radio announced today.

As a romantic legend, the Pony Express was a solid hit. Financially, it was a flop. Over 300 runs were made each way between St. Joseph, Mo. and Sacramento during its year-and-a-half-long existence. Every run was a "losing run." Each letter cost an estimated $16 to deliver. Sadder and much poorer, the backers of the Pony Express went out of business 100 years ago. — Oct. 26, 1861.

Bad Hearts and Lung Cancer Near Peaks as Death Causes

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer
DETROIT (AP)—Dead men do tell tales.

Deaths mark the great epidemics and changing ways of the living—and now they may indicate that heart disease and lung cancer are nearing the peak of their deadliness, a scientist said today.

Dr. Reimert T. Rvenholt was a featured speaker at the opening session of the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association.

He told of a study of death records for the Seattle-King County area that went back 85 years.

Recent records indicate that the death rates from coronary heart disease and lung cancer have ceased to increase for persons under 60, he said, and also indicate that "both these epidemics should reach a plateau or peak within 10 to 15 years."

Dr. Rvenholt cited death statistics based on official records and newspapers dating back to 1876, compiled with the aid of University of Washington students.

The records for the Seattle area told the story of changing times through the changing ways in which men met their death, he said.

In the same way the study of more recent death statistics can shed light on modern diseases, said Dr. Rvenholt, who is now Public Health Service consultant with the U.S. Embassy in Paris.

From the statistics you can infer that lung cancer and heart disease are reaching their high points, he said.

Southern Pronunciation

NEW YORK (AP)—Ossie Davis got his first name because of a clerical mixup over a southern accent. His family, the Negro author-actor recalls, intended to name him after his grandfather, Rayford Chapman Davis. When his birth certificate was being issued in Waycross, Ga., however, the clerk simply asked for initials of his given name—and the R. C. officially was put down as Ossie.

The Kentucky Derby was copied after a race begun in 1780 by the Earl of Derby at Epsom Oaks, England.

$3,000 for Funeral Taken From Woman

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Hermine Cieslak, 58, of Chicago, told police she was beaten and kicked by three men who grabbed her purse containing the $3,000 she had saved for her funeral.

Her purse, minus the 30 $100 bills, was found on a stairway in a nearby building. She said she had carried the money around for about a year.

Saved Following Fall Into Grain Hopper

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A grain terminal workman narrowly escaped death when he was sucked to the bottom of a grain hopper by shelled corn pouring from a railroad car.

Frank Lundin twisted his ankle and fell from a ladder heading into the hopper Saturday. He lay helpless for 10 minutes before workmen rescued him. A physician said Lundin was lucky the

President Will Discuss Foreign Stand at Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A squeakless rocking chair and a tradition-laden ceremony will welcome President Kennedy to Seattle Thursday.

Shortly before Kennedy addresses the academic centennial convocation of the University of Washington a century-old bell will toll 10 times, once for each decade of the school's history.

Thus will Washington, the oldest state-supported institution of higher learning on the Pacific Coast, observe its 100th anniversary.

The White House has announced that Kennedy's speech will be devoted to foreign policy. About 11,000 persons, mostly faculty and students, are expected to jam Edmondson Athletic Pavilion for the convocation.

Thursday night, Kennedy will speak at a $100-a-plate dinner marking the 25th anniversary in Congress of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash. Among the diners will be Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy will spend the night in the Olympic Hotel. When he gets

More Police Deployed In High Crime Areas

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy has deployed more than 600 additional policemen and policewomen into high crime areas of the city during the 4 p.m. to midnight shift when crime is at its peak.

Two score policewomen, in civilian clothes and carrying guns, are doing foot patrol as decoys in sections where sex crimes have been increasing.

Albany Business College Schedules Open House Program

Albany Business College will combine its annual Homecoming Day with an Open House affair Saturday, Nov. 25, Prentiss Carnell, president has announced.

The formal program, as projected by the planning committee, includes open house at the school from 2 to 4 p. m.; Alumni-Varsity basketball game at Hackett Junior High School at 8 p. m., and Homecoming Ball at the Sheraton-Ten Eyck Hotel following the game.

President Carnell noted that the 105-year old school recently completed its $175,000 building and renovation project.

The Open House portion of the Homecoming will allow graduates to view the new facilities and improvements. These include a new four-classroom wing, a library and faculty lounge among many other major and minor improvements throughout the school.

An all-out move is being made to contact as many graduates as possible through localized Alumni Representatives in the Northeast area.

Reports from the representatives to date indicate that attendance at the 1961 Homecoming will surpass that of previous years.

Graduates, residing in the Capital District, who are interested in obtaining more information concerning the Homecoming and Open House are urged to contact school officers.

USING HOSTESS'S GUEST TOWELS

Q: Will you please tell me if it is proper when visiting in someone's house, to use the small fancy guest towels the hostess has hanging in the bathroom, to dry one's hands? A friend and I had a discussion on this and she said that they should not be used; that they are merely for show. I disagreed and said that such towels were, as the name implied, for the guests' use. Will you please give us your views on this matter?

A: Guests are most certainly expected to use these towels. That is why they are there.

The Teacher's Daughter

Q: I am a school teacher. My daughter goes to this same school and will be in my class next term. She, of course, always calls me "mother." I would like to know if it would be proper for her to call me this when she is in my class, or must she call me what the other students do—which is Mrs. Brown. A: Even though it would be quite understandable for her to call you "mother," it would undoubtedly give her a privilege which the others lack. Therefore, it is important that she learn to call you what the others do while in the classroom.

Breaking a Friend of a Bad Habit

Q: I have a friend who chews gum almost constantly. This would be all right if she chewed quietly but she has a habit of cracking her gum. It is most annoying and whenever we are out together, people glare at her. I can't understand her doing this as she is a well brought up person and has good manners. Would I be out of order to bring this to her attention, and how do I do so without offending?

A: If you are really a good friend of hers, tell her that you have heard people criticize her because of the way she cracks her chewing gum.

Holiday Plans Are Made By Katrine Rosary-Altar

The regular monthly meeting of St. Catherine Labouré Rosary-Altar Society was held on Wednesday, Nov. 8. The members met in the chapel for the recitation of the Rosary led by the Rev. James J. McNally, moderator.

During the business meeting Mrs. Joseph Rowinski, chairman of the Christmas party, reported that a turkey dinner will be served in the church hall on Wednesday, Dec. 13 at 7 p. m. Both Mrs. Rowinski and Mrs. Patrick Molloy will accept reservations for the dinner through December 1.

Mrs. James Elliott was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee and it was agreed there would be an exchange of gifts. The Mmes. Nicholas Attanasio, George Dall, Charles Golnek and John Lamara will decorate the hall for the party.

To add a bit of cheer for the needy children of the parish, members decided to distribute toys to them at Christmastime. Anyone interested in donating a small toy for this purpose may leave it in the hall on the evening of December 13.

Mrs. Alexander Banyo, president, appointed Mrs. Robert Henney, Mrs. Leo McAndrew and Mrs. Norbert Wolsieleg to serve on the nominating committee for the elections of officers in January.

Highlight of the evening was the unanimous vote by the Rosary-Altar members to donate $1,000 to the St. Catherine Labouré School Fund.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. George Dall and Mrs. John Lamara, assisted by Mrs. C. Finch.

World Fellowship Sunday Observed By Local YWCA

Members of the Kingston YWCA observed World Fellowship Sunday, with a service and a talk on Mexico by Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool at the YWCA 209 Clinton Avenue.

Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg, chairman of the World Fellowship committee was leader for the service and pianist was Mrs. John W. Hill.

"There is an old Mexican saying," Mrs. Oudemool began, "which states, 'if you would know what is in my heart, you must open the door, come in, and sit by my hearth!'" the Oudemools have been directing Youth Caravans to Mexico for the past 12 years and have opened this door enabling a vast number of teenagers to learn Mexican culture first-hand. She described the centuries old civilization found just over the border using colored slides collected during the various trips. She noted that the Mexican people, especially in the metropolitan areas, are in a great rush to catch up in just a year's time an obnoxious slum has been replaced by a beautiful housing development, wide streets, planting of trees and flowers.

Nearly 75 per cent of the population of Mexico is Indian, living in small villages, where little money is available and the barter system is widely in use.

The caravan visited the CREFAL School, which is operated by the U.N. and is financed by contributions to UNICEF. The school is located in Patzcuaro and has 200 Indian boys in attendance. The main purpose of the school is to train them to become teachers and to return to their village to instruct the children.

During the service Miss Regina Buckman, representing the Y-Teen department of the YWCA, presented the gifts of local members which will be sent for use of the YWCA's around the world.

At the conclusion of the program, tea was served by the Hospitality Committee of the YWCA. Mrs. Marshall Winchell, chairman.

Choir Mothers' Guild

The Choir Mothers' Guild of Old Dutch Church will meet in the Choir Room Wednesday at 8 p. m. for their regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Raymond Bellows will preside over a short business meeting after which Miss Lydia Nigudula, Director of Christian Education at the church, will show slides and present her "Philippines on Display." Miss Nigudula is a native of the Philippines and her presentation should prove interesting to all choir mothers.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the evening by Mrs. John Ostrander and Mrs. Jacob Ennis.

All choir mothers and all those interested in the choir program are urged to be present at this meeting.

Do fish bite better when the wind is from the south?

A proverb says, "A wind from the south blows the hook in the fish's mouth," and many people believe that fish will bite better when the wind is in certain directions. An anonymous rhyme contains the prevailing popular notions on the subject:

When the wind is in the East, Then the fishes bite the least; When the wind is in the West, Then the fishes bite the best; When the wind is in the North, Then the fishes come forth; When the wind is in the South; It blows the bait in the fish's mouth.

The biting of fish is a complex subject and thus far no reliable rule that is generally applicable for different localities has been worked out on a scientific basis. It is well known that fish bite more rapidly under certain weather conditions; but no satisfactory correlation of the conditions including such activity has ever been made. The feeding habits of fish are influenced by many factors, such as the temperature and clearness of the water, the presence or absence of currents and other disturbances, the imminence of the spawning season, the supply of natural food available and the barometric pressure. Winds influence the biting habits of fish by producing turbidity and thus affecting the visibility of the bait and by carrying large numbers of insects on which fish feed into the water, making food more plentiful. Careful observers may be able to formulate a rough rule for a particular locality where a wind from a certain direction might be expected to produce certain water conditions. There appears to be some evidence that fish generally bite better when the atmospheric pressure is high than they do when it is low. To what extent if any the phases of the moon govern the biting habits of fish has never been determined.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Edward R. Murrow has come and gone, and his mission to Hollywood was considerably less than a smash hit.

The noted newscaster, now director of the United States Information Agency, came to town to tell the film industry that it could do a better job in presenting the image of America abroad.

Realizes Handicaps

Murrow had two strikes against him:

1. Film producers don't like to be told what to do and will yell "censorship!" when someone in the government tries. Murrow realized this and even blunted some of the pointed remarks in his prepared speech.

2. Curiously for a onetime newsmen, he barred reporters from the dinner with producers. Federal officers reportedly enforced his dictum. His speech was delivered to news offices in a plain envelope amid mystery and turned out to be not the exact speech he delivered. It was not surprising that he got a bad press.

Murrow cited overseas reports: "From India—'movies are doing a lot of harm to America.' From Latin America—'Movies are a terrible influence.' From South-east Asia—'Movies misrepresent—We think of American housewives as useless drones always smoking and drinking cocktails.'"

Objects to Charge

Producer Eric Johnston arose to deny Murrow's reports categorically and proclaim that American films were doing a splendid job overseas.

"The whole thing was embarrassing," a producer told me afterward. "Nobody seemed to get Murrow's message at all. They didn't want to."

To this observer, it seems a shame that Hollywood continues to neglect its responsibility to present this nation to the world.

A look at the upcoming product shows a large supply of sex—"The Chapman Report," "All Fall Down," "Splendor in the Grass."

ANNIVERSARY NOTED — Famed artist Pablo Picasso and his wife, Jacqueline, watch bullfight staged in honor of his 80th birthday. It was climax of festivities in the French Riviera village of Vallauris where he established his pottery works.

Bid With Hope of Deception

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Another well-known veteran pair which will be seen in action at the Houston tryouts is John Crawford and George Raape of New York.

Like most top players, their style is based on soundness, plus occasional deception. Thus, under normal circumstances, Johnny would open the South hand with one club, but they were trailing in a match and he decided to start with a diamond and hope for a favorable swing.

The favorable swing came. George responded one heart. (They consider that any four-card suit is biddable.)

John jumped to three no-trump, (who wouldn't?) and West opened a club right into the concealed five-card suit. Aided by this favorable opening John was able to make four no-trump by eventually catching West in an end play.

At the other table South opened normally with a club and reached the same three no-

Rego Park Youth Hurt in Mishap Near New Paltz

A 20-year-old Queens youth suffered multiple lacerations of the face at 7:30 p. m. Sunday when his 1953 sedan went out of control and landed in a field off Route 32, Town of New Paltz, according to Highland Trooper James Kaljian.

Martin J. Brennan, of Rego Park, Queens, was taken to Vassar Hospital in the New Paltz fire department ambulance, authorities said.

Troopers Harry Foster and Joseph Clare reported the car was traveling south on Route 32 when it failed to negotiate a curve and veered into a field. Troopers said Brennan's condition was described as fair.

The accident occurred on Route 32A, about four miles north of here.

Decker's home was in Summit, N.J.

State Education Institutions Are Seen Going Short

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — State colleges and universities, needing money as never before, are being shortchanged in the battle for tax dollars, President John A. Perkins of the University of Delaware said today.

Action in the last session of Congress was blocked, Perkins said, by "ecclesiastical politics and obsessive fear of federal control."

In a keynote address prepared for the centennial convocation of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities, Perkins said the states are reluctant or unable to levy taxes for public colleges.

The association is observing, during the 1961-62 academic year, the signing of the Morrill Act by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862. That act, in effect, set aside federal funds for the establishment of at least one public college in every state. There are now 68 land grant colleges in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Perkins said the Morrill Act inaugurated "a dramatic revolution in higher education" and established federal revenues "solely for instruction without leading to federal controls."

President Kennedy struck the same note in a filmed message to the association Sunday night.

Driver Accused Of Drunk Count After Collision

A 40-year-old New Paltz man was charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated at 10:50 p. m. Saturday after his 1957 sedan was involved in a collision on Route 208 south of Route 44-55 in Gardiner.

Trooper James Kaljian of Highland, said John O'Dell McKenna of Elting Avenue, New Paltz was released in $100 bail and the case was set down for hearing on Nov. 20 before Justice of the Peace Warren McDowell, Town of Gardiner.

Troopers Harry Foster and Joseph Clare, Highland, reported Lawrence J. Riley, 22, of Route 208, Gardiner, was driving his car from a driveway at his home and McKenna was going north when the collision occurred.

Find Body of Monkey Killed in Explosion

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Searchers have found the body of a small squirrel monkey killed in the explosion of an Atlas missile.

The Atlas, with the 1½-pound monkey named Goliath in its nose, blew up 20 seconds after it was launched Friday on an intended 5,000-mile test flight.

Large pieces of the wrecked missile were retrieved from the floor of the Atlantic Ocean about 100 yards offshore. Goliath's body, discovered in the tangled debris Sunday, was unmarked except for a spot of blood on the head.

Middletown Nips Kingston High, 14-9, in DUSO Thriller

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Time ran out on an upset minded Kingston High football team Saturday at Dietz Stadium and Middletown, favored by anywhere from three touchdowns or better, escaped with a pulsating 14-9 DUSO triumph.

The visitors came within three yards of having their six game winning streak broken as the Maroon players moved 47 yards in the final 55 seconds of play, only to have time expire with the pigskin on the MHS three yard stripe. It was a heartbreaker, especially since Coach Bill Burke's team had literally played the cocky visitors off their feet from the opening kickoff until the final whistle.

Kingston scored a touchdown early in the first period as end Glenn McLeod, a defensive standout, plucked a fumble out of mid-air and went 75 yards.

Smith Is The Spark

Ronnie Smith, the great Middletown back, tallied from short range in the second and fourth periods to shove his club into the lead. The Maroon eleven came back with a safety late in the tilt and then knocked on the victory door only to be thwarted by the clock. It was a game loaded with thrills and the huge crowd, sitting under sunny skies, enjoyed every moment of it.

The visitors, who came into the tilt averaging better than 30 points a game and with a total of only 11 markers scored against them in six previous tilts, put the opening kickoff in play on the 40 and moved to three first downs. Smith, a tremendous performer, both on offense and defense, was the big gainer in the drive. He lugged three times for 16 yards.

McLeod Scores

With the ball on the KHS 25, a Middy carrier was rocked hard and the ball jumped from his hands. McLeod (and what a performer he gave) caught it on the run and raced 75 yards into the end zone. Horace Walker then booted the PAT and it was 7-0 with the game only four minutes old.

The visitors spent the rest of the half trying to catch up and they finally succeeded with a march which started when Dick Collins returned a KHS punt from the 45 to the 16 on the last play of the first quarter.

Smith then carried on five of six attempts at the line, the final try sending him into the end zone from the one. Larry McDowell was perfect from placement on his extra point to knot the score at 7-7. At this stage, the Middles fans were hoping for the expected rout. Such was not to be the case.

After an exchange of punts, the KHS club started a drive from the 36, late in the period. Walker and sophomore Tom Aurringer did the carrying and quarterback John Falvey pegged 12 yards to Paul Natale to move the ball to the MHS 40. But a lateral misfire and the Middles recovered on the 46.

A Late Surge

After failing to move against a very stubborn line, the Middles had one more chance when they put a kick in play on the 45. With only two minutes to play in the first half, quarter-back Bill Kindberg hit big Bill Gray once and Smith twice with passes. However, a penalty forced them back just as the half ended.

Late in the third quarter, the visitors started their second long drive after Kingston had lost the ball on downs on the MHS 30. Smith ran for 28 yards on the final play of the third stanza to place the pigskin on the KHS 25. Seven plays into the final session, he bucked over from the two for what proved to be the winning touchdown. McDowell added the point.

From that point on the Middles had to fight for their gridiron lives. Falvey lugged the kickoff following the touchdown from the 15 to the 30 and then the nail biting time started.

Mixing his plays carefully, Falvey hit McLeod with a pass for nine yards and then went to the 40 for a first down. After Walker ran to the 43, a pass fell incomplete before Falvey and Mike Ferraro combined on a completion, moving the pigskin to the MHS 48.

From there it was Falvey to Ferraro for 10 yards, a five yard penalty against Middletown for being offside, a three yard plunge by Walker and then a neat 12 yard run by Bob Kennedy, putting the ball on the 12. The visitors, who were practically invincible all season long on defense, were now in a tight spot.

Drive Fizzles

They proceeded to buckle down. After Walker went for three, two passes went astray, one being knocked down by Smith at the goal line, and then Walker was tackled on the 21 on a fourth down play.

After failing to move for three downs, the visitors attempted to punt out of danger. The pass from center was bad and a KHS lineman fell on the ball on the Middy 14. The clock, which was now becoming a huge factor, showed 3:50 remaining.

Walker lugged to the nine on the first play from scrimmage but Kennedy was stopped for no gain. Walker then went to the five but a fourth down pass was again knocked down by Smith, who always seemed to be in the right place at the right time.

Punt Is Blocked

After gaining only six yards in three cracks, the Middles attempted to punt again. This time McLeod put a rush on the punter and he blocked the kick. He jumped on the pigskin in the end zone but it eluded him and rolled out of the playing field. Instead of getting a touchdown, the home side had to settle for two points. It was a tough break.

Walker took the free kick following the safety on the 35 and he brought it back to the 50. This set the stage for the final 55 seconds and who will ever forget them? Certainly, not Middletown. The visitors were saved by the clock. Kingston players won't forget them because they just missed recording one of the biggest upsets in the long history of the school.

The Middles were hit by a pass interference penalty on the initial play, moving the ball to the 35. Falvey then hit Walker with a five yarder and the locals called time out. After a pass went incomplete, another had break occurred. Falvey rolled out on the option, couldn't find an open receiver and ran. He tried to reach the sidelines in an attempt to stop the clock but was unsuccessful. Smith (who else) brought him down on the 10 but in doing so, he not only made made tackle, he saved the game.

Only Two Plays Left

Kingston had used all its allotted time outs and Falvey had time for two quick plays. A pass missed and then John hit the elusive Ferraro on the three. However, Mike was tackled on the spot and before he could get off the ground, the game had ended.

Despite the loss, which knocked Kingston out of the DUSO race and clinched a tie for the Middles, the front line, led by captain John Duffner, was simply great. It held Middletown most of the afternoon and constantly bothered Kindberg, who completed only four of 12 pass attempts.

Smith was the best of the visitors. He made the big yardage, did most of the tackling and was just all over the field. The Middles also featured an outstanding pass defense. They limited Falvey to seven completions in 20 attempts and they were on the short side. It was simply a tremendous game.

IN AND OUT — Middletown end Charles Hoffman seems to be catching a pass in second quarter of Saturday's game at Dietz Stadium. However, he dropped the toss and it went as an incompleted pass. Moving in to halt the end are Mike Ferraro (65) and Tom Aurringer (35) of the home side.

Newburgh Smash Pioneers, 25-0

Newburgh Free Academy warmed up for its Thanksgiving Day clash with Kingston by whitewashing Poughkeepsie High 25-0, in a DUSO struggle Saturday at the Hilly City gridiron.

Halfback Jimmy Hill scored three of the NFA touchdowns, taking a pair of scoring passes from Eric Conine and getting another on a five-yard sprint. Conine accounted for the other tally when he picked off a blocked Pioneer punt in the second period and ran 10 yards to paydirt. He also attempted all four conversions and was successful once.

The Goldbacks rushed for 206 yards and gained 107 in the air. Poughkeepsie had 101 on the ground and 35 in the air. It marked the first time a team coached by Sam J. Kallioch had failed to win a league start. The Pioneers finished with an 0-4 mark in the DUSO league and were 1-5 for the season. Newburgh has a 4-3 mark.

Repeater Looms in AF League

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

A repeat of last year's American Football League championship game became a stronger possibility today with San Diego already in it and Houston leading the fight for the other berth.

In the case of Houston, however, there still are some obstacles of note, the main one being San Diego itself.

Houston beat Boston 27-15 Sunday to take over the lead in the Eastern Division. It was the Oilers' fourth straight triumph in a surge that pulled them from the cellar.

San Diego won its tenth straight game as it edged Denver 19-16 and the victory wrapped up the Western Division championship for the second year. San Diego, playing as Los Angeles last season, lost to Houston for the championship.

Houston is just one-half game to the good over Boston and New York and the Oilers play the latter at Houston Sunday in the second straight showdown. Boston meets Oakland Friday night and is expected to win its game, moving back into first place if Houston should lose. In that event New York also would be tied for first.

Both Houston and Boston still have to play San Diego and that is where the Chargers' influence over which they will meet in the playoff comes in. That is, unless San Diego beats both of them. That might react in favor of New York, which already has played San Diego twice and lost both times.

For the nonce, however, the only concern Houston has is New York, which beat Oakland 23-12 last week to hang in the race for the Eastern Division title.

San Diego plays Dallas at San Diego Sunday and it's quite a let-down. Before the season started Dallas was the favorite and was supposed to sweep through the Western Division ranks. The Texans have now lost four in a row and are out of the race by 6½ games.

Dallas took a 30-20 drubbing from Buffalo Sunday and enhanced its reputation for being able to lose more games in the last minutes than anybody. Buffalo scored twice on Texan errors in the final five minutes.

Wally Lemm, coach of Houston, is in a most fortunate position—having two quarterbacks who can go in and keep things moving. George Blanda got the Oilers away and winging as he passed for a touchdown and kicked two field goals, then Jack Lee came off the bench to guide the Oilers to the touchdown that nailed down the decision.

Denver led the mighty Chargers 9-0 at the half and an upset appeared in the making. But Jack Kemp fired up and pitched a 91-yard scoring pass to Keith Lincoln, Dick Harris of the San Diego defense brigade snared an enemy throw and ran it back 30 yards for a touchdown and the Chargers were ahead.

A Frank Tripucka pass to Al Frazier that covered 87 yards gave Denver the lead once more, then Kemp wrapped it up with a 16-yard scoring throw to Bob Scarpito.

Kingston Teams Win 10 of 12 HVBL Games

Kingston teams in the Hudson Valley League had a near perfect weekend. Jones Dairy and Charles Ramsey swept their matches while league leading 3 Brothers Egg Farms and third place Miron Lumber won a pair.

Jones slugged 3058 sticks against Monticello Raceway in a match at the Bowlerama. Angie Fondino, subbing for Jack Ferraro, blasted a mighty 691 series. He stroked games of 213, 266 and 212 to pace the Jones boys. John Ferraro chipped in with 222-204-182-606 and Larry Petersen added 214-206-186-606.

Team efforts were 1042-1040-976 for 3058. Charles Ramsey won three at the Middletown lanes against the Merchants, hitting a sparkling 2804 series. George Glaser and George Magley just missed hitting 600 as they paced the Kingston team. Lou Sciucco was the best for the Merchants, who managed only 2656 sticks on their own alleys.

Tom Carlino rapped 190-232-227-649 and Bob Shelghtner whacked 214-195-228-637 as 3 Brothers captured the last two games from Toupouse after losing the opener. Bill Neville had 222-179-234-635, Lou Maurasso 220-171-227-618 and Dick Byrum 203-191-213-607 for the visitors.

The league leaders had a series of 2994.

Miron Lumber won the first and third games from the Rhoda Arms team of Newburgh. Kildy Corrado stroked 574 to lead the Lumbermen. The others were close behind. Wally Gerken had 581 for Rhoda Arms.

Golfing, Bowling Not His Idea of Fitness Exercise

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Golfing, as practiced by some as good exercise, is regarded by at least one physical fitness authority as "the best way to spoil a walk."

"And bowling isn't much better," says Dr. Thomas K. Cureton, a member of President Kennedy's Youth Fitness Council.

Dr. Cureton, director of the University of Illinois Physical Fitness Laboratory, told a dentists' seminar that physical exercise must be continuous and should be rigorous enough to cause perspiration.

Striking for five touchdowns in the first half, the Liberty Indians stopped Onteora Central, 36-6, in a UCAL game Saturday at the Sullivan County gridiron. Liberty finished its first season in the circuit with a 4-1 mark, losing only to New Paltz.

Quarterback Marv Miller and halfbacks Charles Bruns and Billy Blume teamed for a 59 yard pass-lateral play to start the home side moving in the first quarter. The Indians added two more touchdowns in that period on runs of 40 and nine yards by Bruns.

A recovered fumble on the Onteora four led to a second period score and Joe Decker went over from there. Decker also tallied before halftime on a one yard plunge after his side had picked up another bobble.

Sophomore halfback Eric Stoutenburg ran the third quarter kickoff back 85 yards for the Onteora touchdown. He got some good blocking and out-raced the Liberty secondary.

Miller closed the scoring for the afternoon with a one yard plunge late in the third period. The winning side was stopped after that.

Liberty had a 6-2 mark for the season, losing to Highland in addition to New Paltz. Onteora closed its year with a 2-6 record and failed to win a league start.

DCSL Champions Stage 2nd Half Rally for Victory

Beacon High scored the game's first touchdown but Saugerties did all the rest of the point making as the Sawyers won a 25-7 DCSL tilt at Beacon Saturday to finish with a perfect season and a second straight league title.

Halfback Curt Stewart ran for a Beacon touchdown in the second quarter and Richie Lunsford made the point to snap a scoreless deadlock.

Just before halftime, Joe Ollinger tossed to Doug Robinson to get the Sawyers back into contention. Then in the final half, Al Hrdlicka scored twice and Lou Spada once to turn the tide.

The Bulldogs struck swiftly in the first quarter as Stewart passed to Lunsford for a 67 yard gain. However, the march died on the SHS five.

In the second frame, Stewart ran for 16, 12 and five yards to start a drive and he tallied on a 16 yard run around end. Lunsford ran for the extra point to give the home side a 7-0 lead.

Get First Touchdown
The Sawyers, who now have a 15 game winning streak over two seasons, scored before the intermission. They received a break when the Bulldogs were penalized for roughing the kicker and Hrdlicka kept the drive moving with a pass to Spada.

Ollinger then tossed for 12 yards to Robinson for the score but Hrdlicka fumbled the placement. The senior star teamed with Spada in the ball carrying department in the third period and Big Al climaxed a long drive by blasting over from the six. This one put the champs in front to stay.

Hrdlicka ran 46 yards after taking a punt in the final period and then he went in from the eight. Moments later, Spada reached 27 yards for the final score and Robinson made the point.

Hrdlicka lugged the pigskin 20 times and he made 122 yards for a 6.1 average. It was a great way to finish his high school grid career.

The win also climaxed a great season for head coach Fred Seither. He guided the Sawyers to their eighth straight successes after taking the reins from Bill Straub, last year's winning coach. The Sawyers also won their final games without the services of center John Marshall, who was injured. Bill Vickery, an all-league guard last season, only played the first two games before he was hurt.

It was a team triumph all the way.

Moore Retains Title With Win Over Takayama

TOKYO (AP) —World featherweight champion Davey Moore dropped game and rugged Kazuo Takayama for a nine-count in the 13th round tonight and outclassed the tough Japanese to retain his title on a unanimous 15-round decision.

Moore, in making his fourth title defense, here, his hands full in whipping Takayama for the second time in two years. The Columbus, Ohio, Negro, 28, outpointed the 25-year-old Japanese last year.

Moore, one-half pound heavier than the challenger at the maximum 126 pounds, was a heavy favorite, but had constant difficulty trying to solve Takayama's charging tactics.

There was no question about the decision. Before Jimmy Wilson of Los Angeles went for Moore 73-59, Judge Tony Macaroni of Providence, Rhode Island, saw it 72-61 and Japanese Judge Haruo Ishiwatario scored it 74-67. The Associated Press had it 72-62.

Unbeaten Major List Down to Three

Only three major schools are included in the list of four-year colleges unbeaten and untied in college football, an Associated Press check showed today.

The major teams with perfect marks are Texas and Alabama, 8-0, and Rutgers 7-0. There are 20 small college teams in the perfect record class.

Colorado as well as Southeastern Louisiana, Arkansas Tech and Otterbein were teams which lost their first game last weekend.

Rally to Beat Little Falls in Road Game, 5-2

Kingston Sport Club booters defeated Little Falls, 5 to 2, in a road game Sunday to take over first place in the Central New York Soccer Association standings.

Albany Athletic Club blanked home town rival Albany Sports Club, 2-0, to tie Kingston in the standings with 8 wins and one loss, but Kingston's better goal average per game entitles the locals to first place under association rules.

Fourth place Endicott upset favored Troy Sport Club which led the league going into Sunday's action.

In other games, Schenectady Football Club and Utica tied, 3-3; Poughkeepsie Knights of Columbus and Schenectady sons of Italy tied 1-1; and Poughkeepsie Italians nipped Poughkeepsie Blue and White 2-1.

Kingston had come from behind against the inspired Little Falls squad. The home booters moved ahead 1-0 in the first 15 minutes when a shot on the Kingston goal was deflected into the goal by the Kingston defense.

The Fallmen led 2-0 on an 11-meter penalty shot and a major upset appeared in the making. But George Vizvary's 11-meter penalty kick was good to stem the tide and leave Kingston trailing 2-1 at halftime.

Despite the absence of key players Alex Bruckner, fullback, and Alfredo Di Bella, and in the second period, Coach Alie Sherman decided to get the team's fastest players downfield under a Y. A. Little pass, a try and into the game came defensive halfbacks Erich Barnes and Jim Patton.

The Giants talked it over in the huddle, called for Preville's maneuver—titled with simplicity "the play that worked in practice Friday"—and Little arched a long one that Barnes grabbed for a 62-yard TD that gave New York an insurmountable lead.

Hornung scored 19 points as the Packers knocked the Bears into third place in the West. Detroit's Lions moved up to second place, a game and a half behind, with a 4-14 walloping of the St. Louis Cardinals while Cleveland stayed a game behind in the East by beating Washington 17-6.

In other games, Los Angeles stopped the shotgun offense and won at San Francisco 17-7. Minnesota whipped Baltimore 28-20 and Pittsburgh crushed Dallas 57-7.

Quarterback Bart Starr passed for three Green Bay touchdowns, one a 34-yard pitch to Hornung, who brought his league-leading scoring total to 130 points by adding an eight-yard scoring run, four extra points and a 51-yard field goal in what may be his last game for the Packers this season. He is scheduled to report Tuesday for active military duty.

Davey Moore Heavy Favorite In Featherweight Title Bout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The only world championship bout on the week's boxing schedule will be held Monday in Tokyo where Davey Moore of Columbus,

Moore, 28, will meet Kazuo Takayama, the Japanese titleholder, whom he defeated Aug. 29, 1960 on a unanimous decision in a 15-round championship

Two American officials and one Japanese will handle the contest at Tokyo's professional Sumo (wrestling) Stadium.

Moore is a strong favorite to retain the title against the No. 3

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner of Madison Square Garden hopes to come up with a title challenger for Joey Brown out of the lightweight bout Saturday between Carlos Ortiz of New York and Paolo Rosi, Italian-born New Yorker.

Actually, Rosi already had his chance at Brown and was stopped or cuts in Washington, June 3.

The Butler's farewell to competition was a neck victory over Apmat Sacing in the $30,000 National Pacing Derby at Roosevelt Raceway.

After putting up a good scrap. He has beaten Tommy Tibbs and Lenny Matthews and split even in two with Jackie Donnelly this year.

Ortiz, former junior welter champ, lost that title to Duilio Loi

His time of 2:31 3-5 for 14 miles matched the track record.

Don't Get Panicky

NEW YORK (AP) — City Civil Defense Director Robert F. Condon—asked whether the increased interest in fallout shelters indicates that Americans are becoming panicky—declared "the American people don't get panicky."

Condon and William Hamilton, state Civil Defense chief, answered telephoned questions on a television program Sunday.

Both urged construction of shelters.

Accused of Assault

Accused of assaulting another man during an argument in a Central Broadway tavern shortly before 1 a. m. Sunday, Santiago DeJesus, 37, of 111 Green Street, was arrested on a third degree assault charge. He is scheduled to appear in city court at 9 a. m. Tuesday. Fidel Rivera of 44 Cedar Street lodged the complaint.

Firemen Answer Five Minor Calls During Weekend

City firemen were busy during the weekend answering minor calls, including fire in a tree, a burning couch cushion and a brush fire.

At 1:40 a. m. Sunday, firemen were dispatched to the home of William Scully, 26 Fair Street, and on arrival they found a cushion burning outside the residence. Pressurized water extinguished the flame.

Firemen were called at 4:42 a. m. Sunday to 255 East Strand, where they found a heating unit out of adjustment. The frame house is owned by Jennie Johnson, New York City, and occupied on the first floor by William Washington, and the Rev. Settie B. Chappell, second floor.

At 5:03 p. m. Sunday, firemen were sent to 65 West O'Reilly Street, where occupants complained of an odor in the rooms. Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was notified, but the source of the odor was not determined, firemen said. The house is owned by Raymond Brown, 401 Delaware Avenue.

A brush fire in the vicinity of Spruce and Hudson Streets was extinguished by firemen with pressurized water and Indian tanks shortly before 7 p. m. Sunday.

Engine 2 extinguished fire in a tree in front of 19 Green Street shortly after 8:30 p. m. Sunday.

Identifying Victims Of Airliner Tragedy

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Medical authorities hope to have new evidence today that will help to complete identification of the 77 victims of the crash of a flaming airliner carrying Army recruits.

Doctors at the Medical College of Virginia so far have identified 36 bodies in the temporary morgue. They include 24 of the 74 recruits killed in the crash and two of the three airplane crewmen.

Dr. H. H. Karnitschnig, acting chief medical examiner, said Army teams have been gathering additional information from the families of the Army recruits to aid in further identification.

The Imperial Airlines Constellation carrying the recruits to training at Ft. Jackson, S.C., crashed at the edge of Richmond's Byrd Airport Wednesday night. The airplane, with two engines dead and a third faltering, was attempting an emergency landing.

Seconds before the crash the pilot radioed that his third engine was going out and that he could not get his landing gear down.

Accused of Selling 18 Stolen Turkeys

Edward Day Jr., 27, of Woodstock, arrested Saturday on a charge of burglary, third degree, in connection with the theft of 18 frozen turkeys valued at $162, was arraigned before Woodstock Justice of the Peace Rudolf C. Baumgarten and committed to Ulster County Jail pending grand jury action.

Kingston BCI Senior Investigator Edward Shannon and Investigator Joseph Ventriglia reported Day admitted entering a meat locker at Woodstock Packing Company rented to Nathan Parnett of Woodstock and removed 18 crates frozen turkeys. He reportedly sold the turkeys locally at $5 each, prosecutors said.

Assisting in the investigation were Woodstock Constables Clarence Snyder and Paul Senecal.

Baker Is Denied Review of Case On Accepting $525

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert B. Baker, an organizer for the Teamsters Union, was denied today a Supreme Court review of his conviction on a charge of taking $525 from an employer in Pittsburgh, Pa., to settle a strike.

Baker's appeal to the high court contained testimony he gave before the Senate rackets committee was improperly admitted as evidence at his trial in federal court in Pittsburgh.

Baker, a close associate of James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, was fined $1,200 and sentenced to two years in prison. He was placed on probation for five years on condition that the $1,200 be paid. The government charged that Baker, of St. Louis, Mo., went to Pittsburgh and accepted three payments from George F. Callahan Jr., operator of Exhibitors Service, Inc., to settle a jurisdictional dispute between two Teamsters locals in 1957. The Taft-Hartley labor law makes such payments illegal.

Justice Douglas noted that he favored hearing Baker's appeal.

Film Notables Asked by Nehru To Be Tolerant

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru of India, known for his neutralist stand, urged an audience of film celebrities to exercise international tolerance and compassion.

"Of course, you must not give up what you think is right," Nehru said. "To surrender to evil is a bad thing."

There is always room, however, "for a measure of tolerance even for those with whom we may not fully agree," he said.

Nehru wound up a 20-hour day Sunday night by addressing a dinner attended by 150 Hollywood personalities, Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, was his host.

Earlier, Nehru toured Disneyland. "It was rather wonderful," he admitted.

Even so, he was reserved as he spent 2½ hours seeing the park with Walt Disney. Nehru smiled from time to time but had little to say.

Nehru seemed most at home with the many children who flocked to his old-style electric car in the $30-million magic kingdom. He put his arm around a few, shook hands with some and signed an occasional autograph.
